WORRIED OVER HIS FATHER'S ARREST

Father Is Released From Jail In Order To Attend Funeral

(International News Service)
BUTLER, Pa., Nov. 29.—Worry over the arrest and imprisonment of his father, according to the belief expressed by friends, caused Albert Wimer, 16, of Karns City, to end his own life with a shotgun early today.

Hugh Wimer, the father, was arrested last week and sentenced to 30 days in the Kittanning jail on charges of driving an automobile while intoxicated. Neighbors said the boy had worried constantly over this.

Early this morning the boy's mother heard a shot and found young Wimer dead, the shot having penetrated his heart. The father was released by Kittanning authorities to attend the funeral.

Comfort Station Project Discussed

Architects With Civic Interest May Present Sketches To City

Councilman Louis Genkinger has not abandoned the idea of having the P-O Electric Railway company share with the city the cost of erecting a comfort station on the diamond.

Months ago R. N. Graham, manager of railways, promised to give serious thought to the proposal but Genkinger says the idea has apparently been forgotten by the rail executive.

Colleagues of Genkinger pointed out that the Federation of Women's clubs would probably be interested in the project and local architects may present sketches of such a building with underground apartments, should they desire to show civic interest.

Place For Light, Pedestrians Claim

Pedestrians have considerable difficulty crossing East Washington street at the eastern intersection of the diamond.

Pedestrians are forced to dodge between automobiles which apparently will not stop to let pedestrians cross the street.

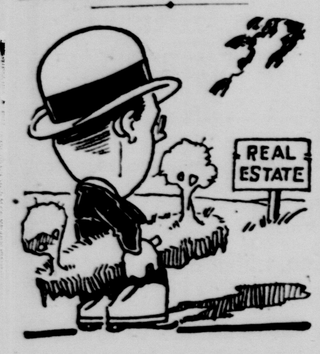

Passengers also board street cars at a point near the intersection and pedestrians and street car commuters claim a traffic signal light would prove a cure for the menace to pedestrians.

OFFICER FINDS CAR APPARENTLY ABANDONED

Robert McClenahan, a constable in Pulaski township, on Friday morning found a Ford Roadster abandoned about a mile and a half this side of New Bedford. The license on the car is listed in the name of a man in the eastern part of the state and he has written the owner. It is believed that the car was stolen and abandoned in this district by the thief.

DAMAGE DONE

C. H. Cole of 16 Galbreath avenue, reported to the police last night, that while his car was parked on North Mill street across the street from the Elk's home, that a truck of the Patterson Bakery company going north on Mill street, ran into and damaged his machine.

Bronson Again Named President

Annual Meeting Of Agricultural Extension Bureau Is Held

FARMERS LISTEN TO GOOD ADDRESSES

State College Speakers Make Addresses At Grange Hall Sessions

John W. Bronson of Little Beaver township was again re-elected president of the Lawrence County Agricultural Extension association at its annual meeting held at Mahoning Valley grange hall Saturday. The meeting was well attended by both men and women who showed a real interest in the work.

Other Officers.

The other officers elected were: R. J. Drake of Scott township, vice president; Harold B. Hoye of Union township, secretary, and Robert P. Peebles of Scott township, treasurer.

The morning session of the meeting was devoted to routine business and election of officers. In the president's address, Mr. Bronson stressed the need of full cooperation if a maximum amount of benefit was to be received from the extension service.

The beginning of the afternoon session was devoted to a report by County Agent Harold R. McCulloch and leader of the project work done during the past year, both in agriculture and home economics.

Following the extension report Prof. R. H. Olmstead gave a very instructive address on "Building Up the Dairy Industry". Mr. Olmstead says "A herd must consist of cows with the ability to produce and to insure this records must be kept." The second requirement for a good dairy is to give the cattle proper feed and management and thirdly the dairyman must like his work. Mr. Olmstead also feels that the boys and girls must be kept interested by means of junior calf club work.

Farm Management.

Prof. Earl L. Moffitt of the department of farm management and accounts from State college, was the second speaker. Mr. Moffitt showed how good farm management—by which he meant the following: A good crop rotation, the keeping of good livestock and the practicing of good business methods along with the keeping of strict account records—are necessary if the present day farmer is to realize five per cent return on his investment and at the same time have a good living for himself and family.

The greetings of the New Castle Chamber of Commerce were extended to the extension association thru Secretary Alfred W. Chilton, who was present at the meeting.

In speaking to the association Mr. Chilton expressed a desire for closer cooperation between the two organizations, and assured the support of his organization in every way possible.

Government Wins First Skirmish In Fall-Doheny Trial

Justice Hoehling Admits Doheny Evidence Three Years Ago As Admissable

DEFENSE COUNSEL BITTERLY OBJECTS

Government Lays Conflicting Statements Before Jury In Presenting Case

By GEORGE E. DURNO
International News Service Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, Nov. 29. — The Government scored a decisive victory today in its first big test of strength with the "million dollar legal defense of ex-secretary of the interior Albert B. Fall and Edward L. Doheny, on trial for alleged conspiracy to defraud the Government out of naval oil reserves.

Justice A. A. Hoehling, in a lengthy opinion read at the opening of the trial this morning, held that Doheny's testimony before the senate oil investigating committee three years ago concerning the $100,000 he "loaned" to Fall was admissible as evidence in the present trial.

Doheny testified before the senate committee that he had let Fall have the $100,000, instead of E. B. McLean, the Washington and Cincinnati publisher, whom Fall had said loaned him the money.

Defense Counsel Objects

Defense counsel bitterly contested the admissibility of this evidence before the jury that is now trying Fall and Doheny on criminal charges. They contended that to allow Doheny's story to go before the jury constituted grounds for "a reversible error" when and if the case is appealed. Their argument was based on that part of the Federal Code which says that the testimony of a witness before a committee of congress shall not be used against him in a subsequent criminal proceeding.

Government counsel contended the statute did not cover this particular case as Doheny had been a voluntary witness before the senate committee, and had given the story to the committee by his own volition.

Admitted along with the Doheny statement was the letter written to the senate committee by Fall in which he claimed he had borrowed the money in dispute and had never even approached Doheny or his associates.

Thus, the Government placed before the jury conflicting statements by the two defendants and at the same time laid the foundation for its case.

Maine Voters At Polls Today To Name Senator

Special Election Being Held To Fill Unexpired Term Of Late Senator Fernald

(International News Service)
AUGUSTA, Me., Nov. 29.—There was every indication of a heavy vote as citizens of Maine went to the polls today to cast their ballots in a special election, which will decide the balance of power in the United States senate.

It was a special election to fill the seat made vacant by the death of Senator Bert M. Fernald. Arthur R. Gould, prosperous business man of Presque Isle, a Republican, was opposed by Fulton J. Redman, Democrat, a lawyer with offices in New York and homes in Bar Harbor and Newark, N. J.

Charges that Gould and his friends spent huge sums in the primary campaign have made the result of the election in doubt. The Ku Klux Klan, a strong factor in the Pine Tree State, was said to have been behind the bringing of the charges and to have decided to support Redman. After a hearing Secretary of State Ball decided that the charges were unfounded.

Governor Ralph O. Brewster of Maine, Republican, refused to campaign for Gould.

Burglars Enter Several Homes

Police Reports Indicate Considerable Loot Is Secured

SHOE SHINE PARLOR REPORTS $250 LOSS

Burglars were busy in the city last night. Considerable cash and some articles of value were taken in two of the places, while there was apparently nothing of much value missing in the third place visited.

The American Shoe Shine Parlors, No. 10, East Washington street, was entered some time during the night. Entrance was effected by forcing a rear door.

The cash drawer was broken open and approximately $250 in cash taken, according to James Passias, the owner.

At the home of William Blews, 912 Marshall avenue, $5 in money and an Elgin watch were taken. This robbery occured either on Saturday night or Sunday evening, during the absence of the family. The house had been ransacked from top to bottom.

An attempt at robbery was also reported at the home of R. W. Hopper, 913 Marshall avenue, Sunday evening. The family was at church when the attempt was made.

The rear door of the home and also a window of the bathroom were found open. The lights of the home were on, when Mr. and Mrs. Hopper arrived from church.

Believing that their son might have arrived home first, they rapped at the front door, receiving no answer, they entered to find everything in confusion.

Dresser drawers had been pulled open and ransacked. Also the clothes presses of the house. A suit of clothing belonging to a son were found downstairs, where they had been taken by the burglars. It is thought possible that the burglars may have been frightened away when Mr. and Mrs. Hopper rapped. Nothing of value was reported missing.

Police Officers Stop Sunday Football Game

Sunday football is not permitted in this city, Mayor William H. Dunlap announced today. A contest scheduled for Sunday afternoon at the Marshall field in the Croton district with the South Side and Croton A. C. teams as the contestants came to an abrupt close about three o'clock, when Officer Charles Longstreth, rushing into the field, blocked a kick, ten yards from the goal line of one of the contending teams.

The score might be said to have ended 40-0 in favor of the police, for there was still forty minutes playing time to be used up. The game was being conducted without much noise and when the order to quit was given, the opposing elevens and several hundred people witnessing the contest melted across the city line into Hickory township, only to find Constable W. J. Graham ready for them and the game had to be abandoned.

A number of complaints were received by the police shortly before three o'clock and Officers Hillers, Longstreth and Lynch were detailed to put a stop to the contest.

When the officers informed the contestants that the game was not permitted, leaders in the crowd admitted they were in wrong and the journey into Hickory township in an effort to complete the game was made. No arrests were made.

Democrats Plan Intensive Fight To Seat Wilson

Democratic Proposal To Seat Wilson Will Be Injected Into Coming Congress

PLAN TO RESUME SENATE INQUIRIES

Pennsylvania Situation May Arouse Real National Controversy

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, Nov. 29.—The much-discussed Democratic proposal to seat William B. Wilson, former secretary of labor, instead of William S. Vare, Republican senator-elect from Pennsylvania, today threatened to inject itself into the coming session of congress even though the contest can't possibly be decided until after next March 4.

Intent on elevating the slush fund revelations to the level of a presidential campaign issue for use in 1928, it was learned, Democratic leaders plan to keep the subject constantly before congress.

In this program, the Democrats will gain support from the Republican insurgent bloc. Senator Geo. W. Norris (R) of Nebraska, has led the fight against Vare. A private investigation is now being conducted, it was said, to unearth evidence of alleged corruption in the Pennsylvania election to be used as the basis for a senatorial inquiry as well as the foundation for a claim to the election of Wilson over Vare.

To Resume Inquiries.

The Reed committee undoubtedly will go into action again early in December. Its chairman, Senator James A. Reed (D) of Missouri, will return to Washington late this week. Other members of the committee are expected here at the same time and work will be begun at once on a preliminary report on the investigations held into primaries in Pennsylvania, Illinois, Indiana, Arizona, Washington and Oregon. Adoption of this report, condemning large expenditures, will be demanded early in the session.

When Reed arrives, the committee will reopen the Indiana inquiry long enough to give Senator James A. Watson, Republican of Indiana, an opportunity to reply to some of the charges made against him at the hearings held last month in St. Louis and Kansas City. These charges linked Watson to the Ku Klux Klan but did not involve expenditures.

At the same time, Reed will report to the full committee on the hearings held into the charges raised against Senator-elect Harry B. Hawes, Democrat of Missouri. It was said the committee will vote to exonerate Hawes.

The Pennsylvaina situation, however, may arouse a real controversy. While Democrats favor an immediate reopening of the inquiry into the Keystone state election, administration leaders were ready to oppose it. The latter, it was said, will take the position that this matter should be left to the new senate to decide as the Vare contest cannot be considered by the present senate, due to lack of jurisdiction.

PRINCE CAROL SEEKS CROWN

Would Like To Succeed King Ferdinand In Case Of Latter's Death

AUTHORITIES MOVE TO PREVENT COUP

Reports Continue To Indicate Condition Of King Ferdinand Critical

By HARRY R. FLORY
International News Service Staff Correspondent
PARIS, Nov. 29.—Prince Carol wants to accede to the throne of Roumania, if King Ferdinand dies, but he will not return to his homeland as a penitent.

"I left Roumania by the front door and I won't return except by the front door," Prince Carol told a friend, who questioned him regarding his possible forgiveness and restoration.

The prince's supporters intend to ask the Roumanian parliament to amend the constitution and cancel his renunciation of rights, it was stated authoritatively today by a member of his household. Failing in this, the supporters of Prince Carol may resort to a coup d'etat or a popular revolution to bring about his return, it was stated.

To Prevent Coup.

BUCHAREST, Nov. 29.—The government today took steps to nip in the bud any attempts on the part of supporters of the former Crown Prince Carol to place him on the Roumanian throne by a coup in event of King Ferdinand's death.

Carol's supporters among the personnel of the Roumanian army, of which there are reported to be many, were scattered today by an order of the minister of war distributing them among the various garrisons of the country.

Mass meetings of the national peasants' party, which is disposed to support Prince Carol's accession, have been forbidden by the police.

A Socialist newspaper was suppressed for stating its views on the problems surrounding accession to the throne.

Condition Critical.

BELGRADE, Nov. 29—The newspapers here today insist that King Ferdinand's condition is critical and that he has expressed a desire to see former Crown Prince Carol.

It is understood that Nicholas Jorga, head of the nationalist party who is now reported to be in Paris, while acquainting Carol with the king's desires, will warn him against taking any steps without first consulting the Roumanian government.

Makes Denial Of Any Part In Double Murder

Denies Any Knowledge Of Love Letters Found At Scene Of Crime

CROSS-EXAMINATION BEING CONTINUED

Mrs. Hall, Garbed In Black, Is Ashen Pale As She Gives Testimony

MRS. FRANCES STEVENS HALL

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
International News Service Staff Correspondent
COURTHOUSE, SOMERVILLE, N. J., Nov. 29.—Under a blistering cross-examination by Prosecutor Alexander Simpson, Mrs. Frances Stevens Hall today calmly, almost disdainfully, denied that she took "any part whatever" in the murder of her husband, the Rev. Edward W. Hall, and his choir singer, Mrs. Eleanor Mills.

Mrs. Hall resumed the witness stand at the Hall-Mills trial at 10:16 this morning for cross-examination.

The black-garbed defendant, ashen pale, denied she knew anything about the love letters that were found scattered about the bodies. She denied she knew anything of any love letters exchanged between her husband and Mrs. Mills.

Simpson had shown her the letters, 19 in all.

Not at Scene

A death-like silence pervaded the crowded courtroom as Simpson asked her point blank if she was at the scene of the crime on the night of the murder.

Q. You were not there when your husband was shot in the head

Arthur Mometer

The clothes press was dark and the hour was late, the shoes were piled there in a heap, and I had to get dressed in a hurry ye ken, as I left the warm bed in a leap. I grabbed for a shoe that fitted my left, and another that fitted my right, never looking to see if the two shoes were mates and today my two feet are a sight. They fit me of course, but they don't fit themselves, for they were not constructed the same, but perhaps the dark closet, the hurry and all, can be given the most of the blame. But the fact still remains that the shoes are not mates, and my feet are in kind of a fix, one has a square toe, the other a round, the weather is wet forty-six.

Town Talk

Forecast of the weatherman for a cold wave Saturday night was carried out, as per schedule, but it didn't last long. By Sunday evening, the weather conditions had moderated until there was again with us that old friend, mild and murky weather. This morning rain is again in evidence, with a warmer day prevailing. The weather has been going through a cycle during the past week or more, of going below freezing for about a day and then moderating for three or four days and then dropping back again under the freezing point.

Dividend Checks For Immense Sum Are Being Mailed

Dividend checks totaling 138,591 in number and $8,655,000 in amount are being mailed today by the Pennsylvania railroad, comprising the first quarterly dividend of 1 3-4 per cent recently declared by the board of directors.

The preparation of the Pennsylvania railroad dividend check requires the services of a special clerical force, varying in number from 20 to 100 for approximately three weeks time. Each check bears the facsmile signature of the company's treasurer, H. H. Lee and is countersigned by one of three assistant cashiers who use signographs pens, signing ten checks at a time.

The total work of signing is equivalent to 70 full days of eight hours each for one man writing with an ordinary pen. Instead of postage stamps a mail metering machine is used, which seals and stamps each envelope, under a permit number of the post office department. This saves the company's forces the work of sealing the envelopes and affixing the stamps and the post office the work of cancelling the stamps. The only work required of the post office authorities after the mail sacks are turned over to them is that of sorting all of the checks with the exception of those intended for foreign countries are delivered to the post office n a single day. Foreign checks are sent out earlier in order to reach stockholders as nearly as possible on November 30 the date when the dividend is payable.

These quarterly dividends go to stockholders in every state of the Union, the Island possessions of the United States, every country in Europe all of the possessions of the British empire and many points in Asia, Africa, Central America, South America and the West Indies, etc.

Born: To Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Fletcher of East Washington street a son on November 22, who has been named William Thomas.

A Man Is As Young As His Style-Model

AGE is an honor among your relations, but no credit in your business relations. Wrinkles in the face may be a compliment but wrinkles in the coat are a detriment. Dress old, and you feel old, and look old, and walk old, and talk old, and are saluted with "Howdye, old man!" We specialize in style-models that emphasize youth in young fellows and disguise years in older fellows.

Harmony in Silverware

The wide scope of Mather Bros.' collection of silverware makes it an easy matter to maintain harmony in the selection of family silver or to choose appropriate individual pieces for gifts.

The knives, forks, spoons and other "flatware" are the foundation of the Family Silver. Naturally, the other silverware of the Table Service should be in harmony with the "flatware" and if conformity in design can be maintained throughout it adds to the charm of the Family Silver. We are always glad to advise in the choice of Silver.

NOTHING EVER TAKES THE PLACE OF SILVER.

WHY NOT PUT STREETS IN HOLIDAY ATTIRE?

IN A NUMBER of cities in Western Pennsylvania arrangements are being made to line the principal business streets of the city with Christmas trees and some holiday trimmings.

In some of these cities it is the annual custom, while in others it is being tried for the first time.

Why not in New Castle?

It occurs to us that the holes in the sidewalks used for the flag decorating system will be adaptable for Christmas trees without much difficulty. Wouldn't it give a real impetus to Christmas feeling and spirit in New Castle for the holiday throngs if the streets were adorned with Christmas decorations of this nature?

New Castle merchants and The News are bringing a wonderful Christmas pageant to this city during the holiday season. Why not have the streets decorated with seasonable trimmings? It wouldn't be an expensive undertaking, and would be a worth while move.

WILD LIFE CONSERVATION

VIRTUALLY every state will be officially represented at the national conference on game and wild life to be held in New York early in December, this national representation alone promising much good from the conference.

This conference has been held annually for twelve years as part of the movement for the conservation of wild life throughout the United States, a movement that appeals both to those who want to see forest, field and stream populated again just to be able to once more watch and study the wild creatures and to those through whose veins the red blood of the huntsman still courses.

These conferees, already convinced that their real problem is reforestation, will discuss, among other things, this year ways and means of restoring the forest sanctuaries for game. It is largely a waste of time and money to attempt to propagate game in deforested areas, but wherever reforestation has been undertaken the wild life has returned of its own accord and without cost to the state other than that of planting the trees.

Reclassification of game as vermin and protected animals will probably result from the conference. There are some animals which obviously should be placed in the vermin category and others, now considered vermin, ought to be protected. There is at least one game bird which by every rule should be protected as a songster.

Another problem of long standing which this conference may bring to a solution is that of federal legislation that will put an end to that unfair situation under which one state protects game only to have it slaughtered, as it migrates to and from that state, by the sportsmen of states in which it is not protected.

HUMAN TO BE CARELESS

PENNSYLVANIA'S acting state secretary of highways has been inspired by the large number of traffic fatalities in that commonwealth to give expression to some pertinent ideas he has been harboring in his head.

This highway engineer and executive says with no little effect:

"The engineer piloting the locomotive is required to have his mind on nothing but his job while on duty. It is just as important for the driver of an automobile to have his mind on his job every second."

He is also quoted as saying:

"The annual toll of lives will not be materially reduced until the motorist takes his responsibility more seriously. Driving carefully does not mean simply to observe the traffic laws. It means to always be in a position to avoid accidents with other vehicles and pedestrians when they are doing the wrong thing. Speed is not necessarily a factor in reckless driving. Many deaths from automobile accidents are due to careless and reckless driving where the speed is only fifteen miles per hour or less."

While these observations convince one that the Pennsylvania highway chief has discovered the cause of most motor accidents, they are not encouraging. All drivers are human beings and among the most common of human weaknesses are absentmindedness and misplaced confidence in the other fellow. It will take generations of driving and walking in heavy traffic to evolve a race of motorists and pedestrians mentally adapted to accident-proof traffic.

Sometimes when some birds go to the bank or postoffice they only go to fill their fountain pens.

According to reports the King of Roumania is going to die. In time Queen Marie is going to have a lot of trouble on her hands getting things in her country straightened out so she still will have something to say about how things go. Even queens have their troubles.

A man may be a critic and a crank against modern styles but he never turns the other way when the wind blows.

An inmate of an insane asylum at Reading, Pa., escaped and murdered the woman who testified against him when he was placed in the bughouse. We have heard of suits for damages on less grounds than that.

Some people don't need to be given any encouragement. They take it.

Two policemen in New Orleans get divorces from their wives and then turn around and married each other's divorcee. What don't suit one may suit another. Maybe it was a set up job at that.

After we have read a great deal of the Halls-Mills murder evidence in New Jersey we have come to the conclusion that the defendants will be acquitted.

Picture pest (reading titles aloud) "Ah, me, what shall I do now?" A voice, "Go drown yourself."

Rival bootlegger organizations in Chicago are really doing more to rid that city of bootleggers than the officers are doing. Most every day one gang goes out and kills a few of another gang and that means less law breakers. And the officers are just letting the killing go on. At least very few arrests are made.

The coffee drinking champion of this country, who has a record of drinking 62 cups at one sitting—er maybe it is standing, says before he will compete with any one for the championship they must have a reputation for drinking coffee at least the equal of his own. Talks something like a prize fighter. Maybe he is out advertising his favorite brand on the side.

Very often we see such splendid couples. The wife is so manly and the husband so ladylike.

Hospital appropriations from the state are not a good thing. Local communities should take care of all the hospitals needs. The appropriation, and it is never enough to count gives the hospital dead beat an argument and also gives those who do not know what they are chinning about something to chew on. No hospital can exist long without a lot of help as few people pay for their entire keep while in a hospital. People have to learn to support hospitals.

The second divorced wife of Rudy Valentino says she has received word from the Spirit World that Valentino wants to act on the stage in his astral home. What gets us is that he would send this word to his second divorced wife instead of the one who he intended to marry.

Daddy do you remember when you first met mother?" "Yes, dear, it was at a dinner party and there were thirteen at the table."

His wife was so extravagant he called her "Dear."

We Are Still Ignorant

The Hints and Dints Man,
New Castle News,
New Castle, Penna.
Dear Sir,

I notice in your Hints and Dints column this evening that you refer to the word Xmas as an "ugly profanation".

It is quite apparent that you are ignorant of what the X in the word Xmas really stands for. It is a shame that intelligent people have to be content with such items, when a little grey matter would save you not a little embarrassment.

Yours very truly,
An ardent reader.

Say, Old Timer, tell us what the "X" stands for now that you have given the impression that you know.

We heard a young lady say she was getting so fat she was ashamed to look at herself. We didn't think she was very hard to look at when she said it.

Don't say it Xmas! Please don't!

The public safety director of Cleveland, O., has given orders that Sunday will have to be observed in that city and that the building of houses repairing automobiles and trucking of trucks will have to cease in that city on Sunday. TONY'S PRECAUTION

Tony was having his second son christened and, being very anxious to have his name recorded correctly on the birth certificate, remarked to the clergyman:

"Of course, Tony, why do you make such a request?" asked the clergyman.

"Wella, ya see—itsa lika dis. My fista boy I tela ya I wanta heem chris'nd 'Tom' and ya putta 'Thomass' on heesa paper. Now, I wanta, dis boy nama 'Jack.' No wanta heem name 'Jackass'."

TODAY' STORYETTE

A negro lad had been brought into a Virginia police court for the fifth time charged with stealing chickens. The magistrate determined to appeal to the boy's father.

"See here," said His Honor, "this boy of yours has been in this court so many times charged with chicken-stealing that I'm quite tired of seeing him here."

"I don't blame you, judge," said the parent. "An I's tired of seein' him here as you is."

"Then why don't you teach him how to act? Show him the right way and he won't be coming here."

"I has showed him de right way," said the father, "but he jest don't seem to have no talent for learnin' how, jedge; he allus gets caught."

What does the American woman want? is the question asked a moral philosopher. Well, our guess is a big income, an automobile, a small house and all her time to do as she pleases.

In the old days of knights and gallants it was the customary thing to kneel and kiss the hem of the ladies' garments, but if the custom of kissing the hem was in vogue it could be done just about as easy standing up.

A young man in New York who killed two policemen and committed 21 robberies wants to "burn", which is the slang word for going to the chair. With the immigration restrictions on future police officers rather stringent, this young man ought to have his wish, merely to help preserve the New York police department.

Nature is cruel, as devoid of sentiment as a crocodile or any of its products.

A tornado struck Arkansas on Thanksgiving day, overwhelming families sitting at the holiday feast. Seventy dead, hundreds injured in Arkansas, Louisiana, Mississippi and Missouri was the record last night.

In Cuba and Florida, in the north, the west and across the ocean in Europe, tornadoes have done their destructive work within a few months.

The sun, source of light, heat and fuel is blamed. A disturbance there, 93,000,000 miles away means destruction here. We should be grateful for our safety, traveling so close to that huge furnace.

Four railroads have increased wages of shopmen, showing intelligence in allowing crumbs from the prosperity table to fall within reach of the workers. There is prosperity enough for all, and it will last longer if everybody has a little of it.

Prosperity's stepchildren are the cotton growers and the textile manufacturers. Women that used to wear yards upon yards of material now wear about as much as is used to wrap up a baby.

Northern textile workers worry about the removal of their industry to the south, and they may.

Coal and iron, side by side, took the iron mills to Pittsburgh. Cotton, cheap power and labor, side by side naturally take the textile industries to the south.

If interested in movies, hear from Natacha Rambova, second wife of Rudolph Valentino. She hears from Valentino's spirit that he will be in the movies in the spiritual world as "Star in the Celestial Super-Specials."

It seems Valentino got used to the spirit world, learned to live without a body very quickly, because good friends, Caruso, Wallace Reed, Sarah Bernhardt, were waiting to show him how.

Man cannot imagine anything that he has not seen.

The Asiatics gave many legs, arms and heads to their gods, Swedenborg showed men on another world with brass colored faces, Christians give the devil horns, hoof and a spiked tail, and birds' wings to the angels. But they are all human in their general makeup.

The stolid British enjoyed an exciting hour in the Stella Maris murder trial Friday. A. F. A. Smith, who murdered his friend, John T. Derham, told with streaming eyes how he wrote a love letter to his wife just before he murdered her lover.

Spectators sobbed and suddenly one of the two women on the jury stood up, screamed and fainted.

The widow of the murdered man, in deep black, was present. They have their exciting murder cases over there also, but they convict and hang the murderers.

THINGS THAT COUNT MOST—

In a home are the things that money can not buy.
In religion are the things that each man experiences for himself.
In the day's news are not always the things that get the biggest headlines.
In a church are not what the people believe but what they are.
In a school are not the text books but the teachers.
In any man's success are things he can not bequeath to his son.
In winning big games are not star players but steady teamwork.

Henry L. Stimson, who is prominently mentioned to succeed Gen. Leonard Wood as governor-general of the Philippines, is a prominent New York City lawyer who was Secretary of War in the cabinet of President Taft. Mr. Stimson is of a well-known New York family. His cultural training was received at Yale and Harvard and his professional training at Harvard Law School. Settling in New York, he allied himself with strong legal firms and built up a reputation that led to his selection, in 1906, as a federal district attorney. During the three years he held this office he made a brilliant record as a forceful prosecutor of offenders in high places. Without his having any special care for the honor he was enlisted as the Republican candidate for the New York governorship in 1910, but was defeated. During the war he was given charge of the intelligence bureau of the War Department.

Dr. Crane's Editorial

BREAKING IT GENTLY

If you have anything to tell me, say it.

Don't beat around the bush and prepare me for your news, or otherwise break it gently.

A young man called to see me the other day and asked if he could have ten minutes of my time. I replied that he could on two conditions—that he spend the first five minutes telling me what he wanted me to do; then he could take the other five minutes and explain why he wanted me to do it.

I don't like to have people prepare me for things. I don't want anything led up to.

I am quickly adjustable, and whatever may be your news I can soon arrange my affairs to receive it.

For people to think they must lead up to things or they must get me first in the proper mood to hear what they have to say is an impeachment of my intelligence.

I am already in the proper mood. I am ready to hear your news. So out with it, no matter what it may be.

This thing of preparing people to receive news recalls the story of an Irishman.

An Irishman was killed in a mine disaster. As they were bringing home his body they deputed Mike, one of his fellows, to break the news to his widow. Mike went on ahead and when he met the widow at the door of her house he said: "Does the Widow McCann live here?"

"No," she replied. "I am Mrs. McCann and my husband is a miner."

"Like the dickens he is," said Mike. "Wait 'til you see what they're bringing up the steps."

This is a good example of "breaking it gently."

The fact is that the experienced mind can adapt itself quicker to anything else than to mystery.

Whatever the bad news may be, we can digest it in time, but one thing we cannot stand is to be kept in the dark.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

MORE FOREIGN LOANS.

The United States will probably never join the League of Nations—God help them if they did. Every state of Europe, and I am not now speaking of Republics and Empires, I am speaking of Free States, States within States, are borrowing money and floating bond issues, in this country. The latest one to come to my attention is the Free and Hanseatic State of Hamburg, Germany. The Hanseatic part of it rouses the historian's imagination, and he remembers how much political history was written by the Hanseatic League. This Free State—it calls itself a State—is the State of Hamburg. It wishes to borrow ten million dollars, and give twenty year six per cent. gold bonds. These bonds are offered by the New York bankers at 91¾.

In the advertisement by the New York bankers, it is said: "The State of Hamburg is one of the independent States constituting the Federation of the Republic of Germany. It includes within its territory of one hundred sixty square miles, among other municipalities, the city of Hamburg, which is the second largest city of Germany, and the city of Cuxhaven. Both of these are important harbors, the port of Hamburg being in point of tonnage the largest in Germany. In 1925 cargoes totalling more than twelve million metric tons came in and cargoes totalling more than seven million metric tons went out; for the first half of 1926 both the incoming cargoes and the outgoing cargoes indicated a still larger tonnage. The value of the seagoing exports from Hamburg in 1925 was more than a billion dollars."

It will be seen that Germany is not asleep, when the people of Germany can export from one port, be it the largest or not, more than a billion dollars worth of merchandise. The most interesting part of the advertisement follows the word "Security". It says the bonds will be the direct obligations of the state of Hamburg, and will contain a covenant that if Hamburg, while any of the bonds are outstanding, it (the state of Hamburg) shall create or issue, or guarantee any loan or bonds secured by lien on any of its revnue or assets, of assign any of its revenues or assets as security for any guarantee of any obligation, the present issue of bonds will be secured equally and ratably with such other loan or bonds or such guaranty.

The enforcement of the charges to which the assets and revenues of the German Reich, and its constituent states were made subject under Article 248 of the Versailles Treaty is suspended so long as Germany performs its obligations under the Dawes plan, which provides that certain revenues shall be specifically pledged as security for Reparation Payments.

That ten million dollar issue of bonds has been probably already sold before this is printed. It makes a just ripple on the surface of American Finance, but in the aggregate the foreign loans that are being made now in the United States are tremendous. With the feeling existent in Europe that we are a nation of money grabbers, and Shylocks, it would not take much imagination for the reader to figure out what would happen should this Nation ever become a Member of the League.

BALLADS OF THE WINTER SEASON

Though some detest the ice and snow
And dread King Winter's rugged ways,
The chilling winds that bite and blow
The dreary nights and dreary days
I turn on these no timid gaze.
My blood is warm, my heart is stout!
One fault with winter though I raise,
Its dinner parties wear me out.

Right merrily to work I'll go
Through winter's dreary murk and haze,
It is enough for me to know
My fireplace and its cheery blaze.
I do not mind the snow's delays
When high the drifts are blown about.
I shrink from winter's social craze
Its dinner parties wear me out!

The usual conversation flow,
Potatoes creamed or lyonnaise,
The tables where the candles glow,
The awful bridge the stranger plays,
The compliments the flatterer pays,
Pink punch which I could do without;
'Tis these I dread as winter stays,
Its dinner parties wear me out!

To Winter I'll sing songs of praise
My mirth its blizzards cannot rout
[illegible] is the social maze,
Its dinner parties wear me out!

POEMS HOME BY CHARLES HANSON TOWNE

"Marsh Grass," by Jessie B. Rittenhouse.

Miss Rittenhouse has done much to stimulate interest in poets and poetry in the United States. She has long been the active secretary of the Poetry Society, and she has lectured in all parts of the country. As a critic she holds a high place; but I think that as a maker of delicate lyrics she also is entitled to wide recognition. Always beautifully moulded, her songs attract me for their sharp epigrammatic quality and for their springlike fragrance.

I saw the marsh-grass blowing:
It took me far away;
For I was born where marsh-grass
Was endlessly at play.

Its ripples were the gladdest things
That one could ever see,
So who would think that marsh-grass
Would bring the tears to me?

Insurance Company Sues For Value Of Automobile Burned

The Export Insurance company of New York has filed a suit against The Gunton Motor company for $2,000, value of an automobile and damages.

It is claimed by the Insurance company that it issued a policy for $1,110 to Vita Fern, being theft insurance on his automobile.

The machine was afterwards reported stolen and the company paid the insurance claim to Fern, taking an assignment of the insurance policy.

Later the stolen car, with the number changed, was found in the garage of the unton Motor Co., and the insurance company made a demand for the machine, for which the insurance had been paid. Before the machine was turned over it was burned up in a garage fire. The insurance company seeks to recover the value of the machine.

Cosmetics Now Match Costumes

Hollywood Shop Caters To Women Who Desire Cosmetics To Blend With Clothes

INTRODUCES NEW COLORS FOR MEN

By THOMAS R. CURRAN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Nov. 29.—A little shop on Hollywood boulevard caters to women who wish cosmetics blended to match costumes, hat, or mood.

The clerks in the shop wear smocks and berets. When a customer enters she is invited to seat herself in the harsh, severe light of day while the clerk appraises her complexion with practiced eye. Ah, yes—milady is olive-skinned and grey-eyed—mauve, orchid, peach and pearl tones blend nicely —would milady prefer more warmth to the blend? And thus the "individualized face powder" is mixed especially for the customer, who is as pleased to have a special blend of powder as she would be to have an exclusive model hat.

Jack Mulhall, leading man for Colleen Moore, is waging a single-handed fight to introduce passionately-tinted suits for men in Hollywood. When Mulhall returned from the east recently he brought with him a varied assortment of "loud-color" suits that shamed the drab blacks and greys of conventional male attire.

Mulhall not only knew the names of the new colors—gorse, glacier blue, cigar, rust, pheasant, Martini, Bronx and Manhattan—but also backed up man's right to brilliant colors by drawing a parallel from nature. Male birds and animals, Mulhall declared, are usually the most gaudily tinted.

James Cruze will direct Wallace Beery in "Louie the Fourteenth". Cruze, who directed such epics as "The Covered Wagon," "The Pony Express" and "Old Ironsides", had started to work with Adolphe Menjou on a light comedy, but Paramount officials considered the Beery picture more suited to his talents.

Pictures featuring "fashion revues" are very popular in the rural communities, but one serious objection has been discovered. Productions like "Irene" and "The Dressmaker From Paris", with flimsy plots centering around a style show, have such an interest to women theatre-goers that many of them stay for two and three showings just to take copious notes on how many buttons on the sleeves and all of that.

Samuel Goldwyn has another star "discovery" to his credit. Goldwyn gave the role of "Abe Lee" in "The Winning of Barbara Worth" to a young man from Grinnell college in Iowa who arrived in Hollywood six months ago.

The young man, Gary Cooper, almost "stole" the picture from Ronald Colman and Vilma Banky, and, as a result of his success in this picture he has been signed as a full-fledged star by Paramount.

Tony Lazzeri, Bob Meusel, Douthit and Hafey, stars of the last world series, will be be part of the "atmosphere" in "Slide, Kelly, Slide," a baseball picture starring William Haines.

Mike Donlin, former manager of the New York Giants, also has a role in the film.

While filming a rustic scene in one of Pola Negri's late pictures, the players and cameramen were astonished to see a cow weeping.

The studio orchestra was playing a sad, haunting tune at the time, but unemctional electricians blamed the tears on the strong Klieg lights. The director, availing himself of opportunity, at once ordered a "closeup".

Wavy—Curly Glossy Hair

By Edna Wallace Hopper

The thousands who see me daily on the stage know how my hair waves and glows. It seems doubly abundant because of the curl. Nearly every girl and woman who sees it would like to have hair like mine.

But I never go to a hairdresser. I have never had a Marcel wave. I simply apply a hair dress which experts made for me. Neither you nor I will probably ever see anything else to compare. It keeps the hair in curl, keeps it in place and gives it a lovely sheen.

This hair dress is known as Edna Wallace Hopper's Wave and Sheen. All toilet counters supply it at 75c per bottle. It will bring you added loveliness more quickly than anything else I know. My guarantee is enclosed with every bottle, so it costs you nothing if it doesn't please. Try it at my expense.

SPECIAL—See Miss Hopper in person at Penn Theatre, New Castle, Dec. 2-3-4. Matinee for women only Friday, 11 o'clock.

Posts Forfeit In An Accident Case

Merle Thorn, who was taken into custody Saturday by the city police after an accident in which he passed around the left hand side of a street car and struck a woman, who has just left the car and was crossing the street in front of the street car, has posted a forfeit of $50 for his appearance, pending the result of the injuries of the woman, but inquiry at both local hospitals failed to locate the woman. The police have no record of her name.

There wasn't any "flaming youth" in 1890. But when it acted that way it had reason to think dad had set it afire.

Lost Indian Tribe Loses Pension

A "lost" tribe of full-blooded Chippewa Indians—lost in the sense it cannot trace its descent and therefore does not share in pension money—is living on the St. Croix river, near Danbury, Wis. Here are Gus Premo; his wife, Annie Stone, and their two children. The papoose is bound tightly to a board which serves as his hammock-cradle as well as "baby carriage" on the back of his mother.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS
BY MRS. MARY MORTON

MENU HINT

Cold sliced meat often makes a pleasant change. Slice it thin and arrange on platter with celery leaves or parsley garnish. Serve a relish or pickles with it. Creamed potatoes are always nice to serve with cold meat, but in this instance, when you are baking the corn in the oven you might as well have baked potatoes, either sweet or Irish, or scalloped potatoes.

Cold Roast Meat
Potatoes Baked Corn
Tomato and Celery Salad
Date Souffle
Tea or Coffee

TODAY'S RECIPES

SUGGESTIONS

Won't Boil Over

When making candy grease the saucepan around the top with butter for about an inch before putting in the ingredients. The candy will not boil over.

Scrub Well

Always scrub oranges and lemons well before grating the rind into pudding or cakes. Many hands have touched them before they came to you.

Clean Them

Dish cloths should be washed out in hot suds, scalded and hung up in the air to dry to keep them sweet and clean.

WILL LIFT CANS BEGINNING TUESDAY

Collection of tin cans in the sixth and seventh wards will be inaugurated Tuesday, by the city garbage department, it was announced today by Howard Phillips, superintendent of garbage collection. The people of those districts are requested to have their cans in containers at the side of the garbage cans to expediate the work of the collectors.

REV. LANDIS TO ASSIST IN REVIVAL AT EAST LONDON, O.

Rev. George Landis, pastor of the First Baptist church, left this morning for East London, O., where he will assist in special revival services in the First Baptist church of that place for two weeks.

Rev. Landis expects to be out of the city until December 10. During his absence next Sunday Rev. H. G. Woodrow will occupy the pulpit at the morning service. In the evening the Men's Bible class will be in charge and will present a pleasing program.

Cattle Tests Are Now Under Way

Six State Veterinarians Are Engaged In Tests Of County Cattle

Representatives from the State Bureau of Animal Industry are now conducting cattle tests in Lawrence county.

The work was started today, the purpose being to test the cattle of Lawrence county under the tuberculosis eradication area plan, this being the second test of this kind in the county.

Six veterinarians are engaged in this work, each taking one township. The townships and the representatives in charge of them are: Wayne, Dr. Victor Ballou; Perry, Dr. D. W. Gates; Scott, Dr. E. L. Linderman; Shenango, Dr. G. W. Schuey; Plaingrove, Dr. L. Farmer; Slippery Rock, Dr. Howard Ragsdale.

On December 6, seven more veterinarians will report here, therefore with weather and roads permitting, the tests should be over by December 18. If the percent of tuberculosis is less than one-half of one per cent, Lawrence county will be ranked with the five accredited counties so far, this meaning that it will not be necessary to hold another such test here for three years.

This is a state wide work, the veterinarians being employed by the state and federal departments of agriculture and they receive their salaries from these departments, making it that the only charge here is the transportation.

It is the wish of the workers that the farmers will, when the drivers inform them that they are to be tested, have their cattle in the barn and tied up, as this will save valuable time.

Officer Reynolds Removed To Home

Officer Frank Reynolds, who was so seriously injured about two weeks ago, when attacked with a razor by Paul Bronich, was removed to his home Sunday from the New Castle hospital. His condition is much improved but it will be some time before he is able to resume his regular duties.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29.—Checking up the loose ends of the world econmic survey for 1926, experts at the treasury and commerce departments declared today that a recapitulation discloses that out of post-war chaos is gradually coming a restoration of soundness in governmental and business conduct.

This year was described as productive of the most important economic progress since the war. American officials feel that the ground work has been established for still more progress toward word stability in 1927.

Among the oustanding developments of 1926 were:

1—Removal of trade barriers, bringing about a more even flow of commerce throughout Europe.

2—Currency stabilization or restoration of gold standard in most of the trading countries.

3—Continued flow of American capital abroad, aiding in rehabilitation.

Officials estimated that American loans and direct ivestments abroad in 1926 will amount to $1,250,000,000, of which about half is accounted for by European government or corporations. There is reason to believe that this rate will be continued for some years to come.

Bridenbaugh And Gardner Spectators At Army-Navy Game

Coach Phil H. Bridenbaugh and Faculty Manager Ralph H. Gardner of New Castle high school returned early Sunday morning from Chicago, Ill., where they witnessed the Army-Navy grid battle.

Both men were unanimous in declaring it was a wonderful spectacle, not alone from a football standpoint, but also from the human interest side.

The local officials departed for Chicago immediately following the Thanksgiving Day battle in this city in which New Castle defeated Erie Academy high. They reached Chicago Friday morning.

Sure! Police Chief Dysart Reads Hall-Mills Case News Reporter Discovers

The banker studies the column devoted to stocks and bonds. The Mrs. devours society topics while the tackle on the football team and the man who sits in the grandstand reads the Sporting page. The seriously-inclined read the editorials while those looking for a slam or bam read Hints and Dints. The younger children, oh, they read Banrey Google as they giggle, Bringing up Father and the rest of the comics including Andy Gump, Dumb Dora, etc.

All of which brings to mind that every man, woman and child reads a section of the newspaper with which they are most familiar. For instance, who'd think of a banker reading of a Kensington before he studied the rise or drop of stocks and bonds. Who would believe that Mrs. Society Woman would read the front page before she had read of Mrs. Blank entertaining Mrs. Newcomer. It is a certainty the tackle and the fan wouldn't turn to any of these columns before reading the account of the game and the kids—they want he "funnies" and want 'em read to them nine of ten nights.

What do policemen read?

The answer was provided today by Police Chief Dysart because a reporter tiptoed into his private office, 15 minutes after the official arrived and studied the chief's features while the chief studied the features of a story.

What was the story, the reader asks.

That is what the reporter asked the chief.

This is what he replied as he wheeled in his arm chair.

"The Hall-Mills case.'

"Do you always read the accounts of a murder and also of murder trials?"

"Always," he replied.

"Why do you read them?"

"I'm a policeman. I have to keep in touch with what is going on in the world of crime."

That was his answer.

Physicians, like police, turn first to reports of "discoveries." They await the arrival of the Medical Journal for verification and a fuller account of the "discovery."

Real estate men travel through the "For Sale" and "For Rent" columns with the same zest as a six day bicycle rider trying to make up a lap his partner lost when he tumbled on a sharp curve.

Railroad men eagerly devour news pertaining to promotion and of any adoption of new safety devices. They later read of the railroad for which they work trying out the plan, if the safety device is feasible.

And so it goes, each for his own particular line first and the rest of the "food" is a dessert and according to estimates each newspaper printed is read by three members of the average American family of five.

Which Would You Choose?

If some good fairy should appear, as they did in the old fairy tales and offer to grant your heart's desire, what would you choose?

Wealth? It's a transient thing that brings its own cares.

Happiness? It's an elusive thing which we keep by giving away.

Health? That's the best gift. Health is riches that gold cannot buy, and surely health is cause enough for happiness.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound may be the good fairy who offers you this priceless gift of better health.

Sick Children Love "Cascarets" For the Bowels

Give "Candy Cathartic" for a bad cold, sour stomach, constipation

Get a 10-cent box now.

Most of the ills of childhood are caused by a sour, disordered stomach, sluggish liver and constipated bowels. They catch cold easily, become cross, listless, irritable, feverish, restless, tongue coated, don't eat or sleep well and need a gentle cleansing of the bowels—but don't try to force a nauseating dose of oil into the little one's already sick stomach—it is cruel, needless and old-fashioned.

Any child will gladly take Cascarets Candy Cathartic which act gently—never gripe or produce the slightest uneasiness—though they cleanse the little one's system, sweeten the stomach and put the liver and bowels in a pure, healthy condition.

Full directions for children and grown-ups in each package.

Mothers can rest easy after giving this gentle, thorough laxative which costs only 10 cents a box at any drug store.

Honor Former Resident Back From Canada

Mr. And Mrs. Samuel Taylor Come Back To Lawrence County To Make Home

A pleasant and enjoyable Thanksgiving was spent on the Robinson farm at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Taylor. Eighteen members of the Taylor family were present and a very delicious 6 o'clock dinner was served. After the servings the hours were spent with music, chat and other informal amusements. Each member pronounced a real good time. The event was in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Taylor, who have just returned from Canada.

Mr. Taylor is no stranger to the city of New Castle. He clerked at D. W. Thomas' grocery store on Long avenue for nine years and six months before leaving this country for Canada 17 years ago. Mr. Taylor emigrated to Canada to take up farming at Throne, Alberta. After farming a few years he gave up farming to take up a position in one of the largest and best stores in the district of Coronation, held this job and left on his own accord when he returned to New Castle. The chairman of this firm made him seme very flattering offers to induce him to stay, but his parents, sister and brothers being at New Castle he wanted to be here with them, that is his only reason for returning. His wife is a Canadian by birth, born at Medicine Hat, Alberta. They have three children, two boys and one girl.

Mr. Taylor is a musician, a good pianist, also he was baritone soloist in the brass band at Coronation, the finest brass band in the district. His pianoforte and baritone playing was appreciated and enjoyed by all.

It was with deep regret that the people and members of this organization said goodby, in fact they did everything to induce him to stay. Well, Sam, old boy, here's wishing you and yours success in this great American country.

Patents Are Granted To Several Inventors From Western Penna.

By GEORGE H. MANNING
(Washington Correspondent of The News).

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 29.—A method of making artificial cork which will effect great savings to cork manufacturing concerns has been invented by Louis L. Bentley of Beaver Falls, Pa., and for which a patent has just been granted by the United States Patent Office.

Cork particles, waste in the process of manufacture, are passed through a cylinder and held under applied compression. A heating medium is then applied which produces an exothermic reaction in the cork mass creating a new cork product.

The inventor has assigned all rights in the patent to the Armstrong Cork Company of Pittsburgh, Pa.

Two other Beaver Falls inventors were granted patents. Archibald Kirk and Samuel L. Brierly were granted a patent covering a wall paper display panel which consists of a base board with clamp strips along the edges providing a means for holding rods.

An adjustable drill chuck is covered in a patent just issued to Lars H. Vold of Butler, Pa. It comprises a plurality of driving spindles and is for use in a multple drill press.

Harry T. Anderson and Soren Hansson, both of Butler, are the inventors of a combination draft-gear and center sill tie for which a patent has been granted by the patent office. It consists of a plate having hooked ends adapted to reach over the bottom flanges of the center sill members, one of the hooked ends constructed to closely fit one flange and the other hooked end of larger dimensions. The inventors have assigned one-third of their interest in the patent to Cleon M. Hannaford of Richmond, Va.

Truck And Auto Collide At Moody And Carlisle—Other Accidents

Mrs. G. S. Falls of 313 Wallace avenue reported to the police Saturday that while driving north on Carlisle street, at Moody avenue, a truck of the Mitchell grocery store, driven by a boy, traveling west on Moody avenue at a fast rate of speed, ran into and damaged her machine to a considerable extent. Mrs. Falls reports that in an effort to avoid an accident she drove her car up on the sidewalk. Ralph N. Mitchell, 425 Northview avenue, was the driver of the truck and made a report of the accident.

Ed. Pander of 1212 Huron avenue reported Sunday that as he was driving east on Lathrop street at the intersection of Washington street, a car driven by Roy White, making a turn from Washington street onto Lathrop street, ran into and damaged his machine.

The cars of James Fitzgerald of 242 Moody avenue and Walter Shelton of 313 1-2 South Mill street came together at South Mill and Home streets Saturday. Fitzgerald claims that he made the main thoroughfare stop and seeing the Shelton car about a square away thought he had time to make the turn onto Mill street. Shelton claims that Fitzgerald failed to make the required stop before turning into Mill street.

For that matter alimony might be called hush money.

Senior High School Plans To Present Farcical Comedy

In presenting "A Lucky Break", a comedy with a strong farcical element, as its first public production of the year, the dramatic class of the senior high school is following a definite outline prepared by Miss Clara Hartsuff.

Such an outline should include all forms of the drama in order to afford the players a wide range of work. A farce limbers up the dramatic aspirant, a comedy humanizes him, a drama interprets life, a tragedy deepens his emotions, and a classic refines and dignifies his art. Such a program also presents an interesting variety of dramatic performances to the public.

Richard Burton, head of the English department of the University of Minnesota, calls attention to the fact that France and Germany make theatre directors high officials of the government, believeing that the theatre not only stands for culture but has a direct and vital influence upon the civilization of the day, taking its place with the church, school, newspaper and library as a mighty social force in suggesting ideas to a nation and creating ideals.

"A Lucky Break" is primarily intended for amusement. It hands out some wise cracks at the foibles of the day, but sends the audience home with a smile that lasts, and a feeling that, when it comes to the test, the neighbors are pretty good folks, after all.

New Castle "Y" Loses To Butler

Seniors From New Castle Win But Boys Are Defeated In Contests

In the largest inter-city meet ever held in this section between two Y. M. C. A. outfits, the New Castle Y lost to the Butler Y Saturday, November 27, 141 to 110 being the final score. All of the boys' events for the locals were lost; this including basketball games, ping pong, checkers and chess and swimming, the only point taken in the pool being the twenty yard dash. The senior class and the Hi-Y basketball teams took their games in fine style.

For the senior department, a very fine record was made by Frank Coen, who in the senior foul shooting contest made seventeen in succession. In all he made twenty-two out of twenty-five shots.

In the wrestling contest for the seniors, New Castle took the honors by securing a fall in eight minutes.

Although the volley ball team, made up of Doctor William Cleland, Tom Elliot, Doctor John Foster, Captain M. L. Craig, P. M. Snider, and Arnold Frazier, lost their games, this team had never had any concentrated practice, the result being that they lost to the fine team of the Butler Y.

In all previous meets, only a few sports were contested, this time several more were on the program. The fact that fifty two boys and men were taken Saturday showing that it was a rather large affair.

All those who went said that they were treated fine, and are looking for a chance to return good sportsmanship when the Butler teams come here. This will be around the eleventh of December or the Christmas holidays.

Illinois Congressman Proposes Fight To Stop Money Flow To Europe

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29.—Sharply criticising the State Department's foreign policy, Representative Henry T. Rainey, Democrat, of Illinois today opened what threatens to become a serious threat in the forthcoming Congress to stem the flow of American money to Europe for investment.

Huge foreign loans will react against American business and bring new foreign entanglements supporters of the movement declared.

"The State Department's policy of passing on foreign loans, Rainey asserted, constitutes "an implied guaranty to American investors that their loans will be protected."

"The administration party has a well defined policy against entanglements with foreign nations, but it is encouraging a foreign investment policy which makes such entanglement inevitable in the next decade", said Rainey.

"A few days ago a $10,000,000 bond issue secured by a first mortgage on an industrial plant in northern Italy was sold within one day in New York. The bonds carry a privilege of stock purchase. The company is to make a low-priced automobile.

"Italy has no restriction on hours of labor. The workers can't strike. Every automobile manufactured in this plant will displace an American made machine in European markets.

"In the next ten years such American investments in industry in Europe as this I have mentioned will have the effect of seriously curtailing our own exports and therefore seriously affecting American business."

How Jack Frost Helps With Yule Decorations

Draws Pictures Of Castles And Mountains, Towers And Turrets, Lances And Pumes, Transforming Window Panes—Story Of The Mother Spider And Twelve Little Spiders

The Garden of Happiness,
Top Of The World,
North Pole.

My Dear Friends:—

One time there was a mother spider who lived in an attic. In the house stayed a little boy who did not believe there was a Santa Claus. Together with the mother spider lived her twelve children. When Summer came the mother spider and her children spun webs in dark corners and trapped flies, but when it got cold there were no flies and the children went to bed many a night without supper.

Christmas night found the poor mother and her brood huddled against the chimney where the warm air coming through the brick gave them just enough heat to keep from freezing. Think of it, children, twelve babies, nothing to eat, Christmas Eve and not a present for a single one of the tired, hungry, worried baby spiders!

Suddenly, as they huddled there with Mother Spider, trying to comfort them and thinking all the time of the morning with nothing to put in the stockings, there came a scratching on the roof. Just a tiny, teeny, faint sound that might have been the brush of a fairy's wings against the roof, or the rubbing of soft snow-flakes against each other as they fell to cover the ground and the picket fences with a blanket of warm, fleecy white.

"Listen, children", said Mother Spider, as she cuddled the little ones to her. And then, as they listened, there came a sliding, slipping, rushing sound that ended in a bump, while from out in the stormy night piped a wee, flue-like voice.

A Little Boy Tries To Fool Santa

"Hurry up Jack Frost and William Brownie", said the wee voice, "this is the place to get in and we must get the Tree of Light, the new skates and rifle in before the little Boy Who does Not Believe In Santa Claus, Wakes From His Nap".

Now down below slept the little boy in a big chair. Before going upstairs he had locked all the doors, barred the windows and set a fire-screen before the fireplace. And then he had told his uncle that he was going to prove for all time that there was no Santa Claus and that if some one pretended to be Santa Claus it would be impossible for him to get into the house on Christmas Eve.

That night the little boy stayed up away past his bedtime. He peeked through the key-hole and listened at the head of the stairs. Finally, though, sand got into his eyes and he fell asleep in the big arm chair. No sooner had this happened than the Brownies and Jack Frost, watching him through their magic glasses, started to come in. And this was the noise the Mother Spider and the twelve baby spiders heard.

When the little spiders saw Jack Frost, the Brownies and me, their eyes grew wide with excitement and they thought Christmas had come to them in the cold attic. "But no", said Mother Spider, "Christmas is only for little boys and girls". And so, when one of the baby spiders cried, Jack Frost said, "Come with me and I will show you what a real Christmas tree looks like".

Down from the warm spot on the chimney came the spiders. Creeping down the stairs they came, scampering into the bedroom of the little boy. They wriggled and wiggled and rustled. How their eyes shone in the dark as Jack Frost, the Brownies and I sat up the 'Tree of Light'.

The "Tree Of Light".

The little spiders swarmed to the tree's base, they rushed up its trunk exploring every branch and twig; dropping from the limbs and swinging from the pine needles as they peeked and poked, pried and peered into every crevice and nook. And then when they had finished, William Brownie touched the shining webs with his wand and they all turned to gold.

Back up the attic stairs went the twelve spiders and their mother and when they had crept to the warm spot on the chimney, Jack Frost touched them with his hand and put them to sleep for the rest of the winter. Wasn't that a nice present for Jack to give the little spiders? A nice long sleep until spring, a sleep in which they forgot their hunger, the cold, and lack of fat flies in the spider's pantry.

Jack Frost then turned to the windows and drew pictures of castles and mountains, lances and plumes, towers and turrets. When the little boy who did not believe in Santa Claus awoke next morning, there, right in his bed room stood the Tree of Light trimmed in threads of gold with fairy lights in red, yellow, blue and green lighting the room. When his uncle came in to wish him, "Merry Christmas", he showed him that I had been there and that he hadn't been able to lock out Jack Frost either, for all the pictures on the windows were painted from the inside. But neither the little boy nor his uncle knew about what Mother Spider and her twelve babies had done during the night.

This year, dear children, I will not wait until Christmas night before visiting you and if you know of any little boys and girls who do not believe in me, invite them to go with you to see Thacher's Santa Claus Pageant which will be held in New Castle. There you will meet me and I will show you my team of reindeer. Mrs. Santa Claus, the Brownies and Jack Frost are also coming and best of all I am bringing with me a real, sure enough Eskimo family, consisting of Mr. and Mrs. Tautuk and little baby Tautuk.

Best of all about this trip is the parade planned for you and your friends. It will be a big parade with your father, brother, uncle, cousins and others marching to welcome me leading the procession with my reindeer and then following after, a long line of Christmas floats on which will ride Brownies, Fairies, Jack Frost, North Wind, the Elfs and a whole float full of Teddy Bears.

I will write you another letter tomorrow and in it I will tell you a good joke on Mrs. Santa Claus.

With heaps of love,
SANTA CLAUS.

$250,000 IS GIVEN TRUMBULL COMPANY TO CLOSE OLD DEAL

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Nov. 29. — A payment of $250,000 has been made to the account of the Trumbull Steel Company, in connection with the property of the Liberty Steel Company, a subsidiary, by an officer of a Youngstown steel company, it has been learned.

The payment is alleged to represent the amount due the Trumbull Company, which had never been turned over. The Trumbull Company purchased the plant of the Liberty Steel Company several years ago, under the regime of Jonathan Warner, former president.

Here's Your Chance To Display Real Christmas Spirit

Christmas at your house will probably mean decorations, lights, good cheer, plenty of good food, presents, company and the Christmas spirit permeating everything.

All of which is as it should be. Christmas is the time for that sort of thing, but unfortunately not every home in the city will have it.

Some there are whom Dame Fortune has seen fit to pass by, whose Christmas day will be just another day in the year, just December 25. Not for them the bounties afforded the rest of us, not for them a host of presents, with the good food and fellowship you anticipate.

For many of them Christmas will be a drab season, and it is towards those folks that the City Rescue Mission directs its efforts each Christmas. Christmas spirit and cheer cannot be given away in baskets, but an imitation of it can. Baskets of food can be provided for the unfortunate and you can help in packing these baskets.

Each year E. J. Berquist, superintendent of the City Rescue Mission sends out a call for provisions for the Christmas baskets and each year the call is answered bountifully by New Castle people.

This year the mission needs 350 pounds of beef, 400 loaves of bread, 50 pounds of butter, 75 pounds of coffee, 75 cans of tomatoes, 75 cans of corn, 150 pounds of rice, 200 large cans of milk, 120 quarts of navy beans, 200 pounds of sugar, 40 bushels of potatoes, 10 bushels of apples, 75 glasses of jelly and 75 jars of canned fruit.

Perhaps you haven't any stock of provisions from which to draw for this list. The money can be given and with the money Mr. Berquist can purchase it.

Lend a hand for the other fellow's Christmas, and help Berquist provide some unfortunate family with a Christmas basket.

BABY SMOTHERS IN BED.

BAKERSTOWN, Pa., Nov. 29.—Raymond J., four-months-old son of Raymond Foster, was smothered last night by the covers on his bed. Discovery of the child's death was made by the parents when they awoke in the morning.

Weather Forecasts Falsely Ascribed To U.S. Bureau

Many people talk and write about the weather, as if they had the authority of the Weather Bureau of the United States Department of Agriculture for what they say. Several recent occurrences illustrate the tendency on the part of a portion of the public to presuppose that any statement regarding weather must issue from that bureau. As a result, when an erroneous or doubtful forecast is made and circulated by some irresponsible person, many others accept it in good faith and act upon it in one way or another. Thus the public at large may unconsciously be misled to its own disadvantage.

For example, predictions of a cold winter specifically ascribed to the Weather Bureau have been used for advertising purposes in entire sincerity by some commercial concern anxious to sell cold weather commodities—coal, or coats, or furs, or other things. The public is led to buy these articles because of the apparent authority of the statement. When actual conditions do not fulfill the prophecy, they feel disappointed, and inclined to distrust future statements issued by the Weather Bureau, even when they contain important warnings.

Apropos of this type of prediction the Weather Bureau has steadily maintained that it can not at present attempt to make forecasts for months, seasons, or years in advance, nor does it believe that this is feasible with data now available to meteorologists. It therefore confines its forecasts to those made daily or for a week in advance, also for aspects of the weather, such as cold or hot waves or other phenomena whose progress across the country can be anticipated with some degree of accuracy.

The attention of the public is furthermore called to an act of Congress, approved May 3, 1905, Section 61 of the Penal Code of 1909, the latter reading as follows:

Any person who shall knowingly issue or publish any counterfeit weather forecasts or warnings of weather conditions, falsely representing such forecasts or warnings to have been issued or published by the Weather Bureau, or other branch of the government service, or shall molest or interfere with any weather or storm flag or weather map or bulletin displayed or issued by the United States Weather Bureau, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and, on conviction thereof, for each offense, be fined in a sum not exceeding five hundred dollars or be imprisoned not to exceed ninety days, or be both fined and imprisoned, in the discretion of the court."

Believe Morgantown Doctor Drowned As Auto Falls In River

(International News Service)

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Nov. 29.—Belief that Dr. Walter South, prominent Morgantown businessman who disappeared from his home here late Wednesday, met death in a plunge into the Monongahela river at Star City, near here, was strengthened today by the reports from four youths who told of seeing an automobile containing a lone passenger speed down a hill leading to the river bank.

Searchers who combed the river bottom in an effort to locate the body found an automobile borrowed by Dr. South, and which he was believed to have been driving when it plunged into the river.

Every community has at least one man who isn't good for anything except to see the other fellow's duty.

HIGGINS BROS

126 East Washington Street.

The Spirit of Christmas Is Really Here!

OUR much talked of Toy Windows and Santa Claus brought thousands of people to Higgins last Friday and Saturday. It was a forerunner of the enormous crowds that will wend its way to this store to do homage to the spirit of Christmas.

It is the spirit that lasts a month, everyone is affected by it and it has seemed in years past, and doubtless will again this year, as though all of the city's life has poured through the portals of this establishment at gift-giving time. The tremendous favor which an appreciative public has shown us, inspires us with a deep sense of our responsibility. We are prepared even more this year than ever, to prove how greatly we can contribute to a Merry Christmas for Lawrence county by earnest devotion to its cause.

Legion Members Plan Big Roast

Vice Commander Of Legion For State Will Make Address

"Pigs is pigs" as Ellis Parker Butler has so aptly put it, but roast pigs "is something else again" Dexter, as the members of the American Legion will find out Wednesday evening, December 1.

The boys are holding a pig roast that promises to be something to write the folks about, and for the affair two innocent little pigs, free fro mguile and the sulling influences of this world, have given their lives. Rather tough on the pigs of course, but what can be done about it?

Vice Commander Here

Harry B. Bunting of Pittsburgh, Pa., vice commander of the Department of Pennsylvania, will be present and address the Legionairres, and many visitors will be here from Butler, Beaver Valley, Ellwood City and other cities.

Chairman William G. Fleming of the Social Committee has charge of the evening and the way his committee is functioning would delight a hard boiled corporal in charge of a fatigue detail.

Deputy State Commander Pat J. Dempsey of the Perry S. Gaston Post is collaborating with the Social Committee in the arrangement of the program, and viewing it today it promises to be "tres jolie."

This is one time when the reservations must be made in advance. Every one expecting to be present is urged to get their reservations in by noon Tuesday. The pig roast opens at 7:00 o'clock, Wednesday evening, with the company all present or accounted for.

A Billion Estimated Lost by "Suckers"

More than a billion dollars have been lost in 1926 by "suckers" in the United States through fake schemes, according to Edward A. Schwab (above) of New York, one of the foremost fraud investigators.

The RIM of The LIMELIGHT

"KIND" HIGHWAYMEN

NORRISTOWN, Pa.— "Please don't take my coat," pleaded Mrs. Susan Felton when two highwaymen held her up within a few hundred feet of her residence here. And the highwaymen proved their gentlemanly qualities by allowing her to retain it. When confronted by the two men, who tried to remove the valuable fur, she had been ill for several days and had a severe cold. So in place of the coat she presented the highwaymen with her purse, containing $2 and two dimond rings, which was accepted with a show of courtesy.

ALREADY THERE BY REQUEST

FT. LEAVENWORTH, Kan. — The one hundredth anniversary of the outpost which grew into the city of Ft. Leavenworth, will be celebrated within a few months. Plans are already under way to make the celebration a mammoth affair. Invitations will be extended to prominent civic, stage and national officials to visit the city during the centennial.

Just how enthusiastic the usual run of visitors at the penitentiary will become over the celebration is a matter of conjecture.

THE CAT'S KITTENS

NEW YORK — The Bermuda liner, Ft. St. George, has a problem on its hands.

Two years ago "Minnie," a timid little purring kitten, come on board to make her home—and was welcomed. But no one thought to check up in her antecendents or general character. The other day the liner blew into port in a gale and when the baggage room was cleared it was discovered that Minnie was a proud mamma again, bringing the number of her children up to 22.

There's gotta be a limit on Minnie's passenger list some way. It looks like the older ones would have to go to work on some other liner.

Fight For Child Is Being Heard By Judge Hildebrand

Divorced Couple Face Each Other For Possession Of Margaret Ann Craig

Hearing on a writ of habeas corpus, brought by Mrs. Nora Pearl Norris against her former husband, Jefferson N. Craig, to secure possession of their daughter, Margaret Ann Craig, aged six years, is being held before Judge Hildebrand today. There was a large crowd of witnesses and interested spectators in the court room when the case was called.

After Mrs. Craig secured a divorce from Jefferson N. Craig she was married to George J. Norris. For the past two years the child has been in the custody of Mr. and Mrs. William Frantz of Wallace avenue. Mr. Craig's mother was a sister of Mrs. Frantz, and the latter took the child at the request of Mr. Craig.

Mrs. Norris testified that she is now desirous of having her daughter. Her husband, George J. Norris, testified that he is a bond salesman for a Chicago firm, and works under a guarantee of $200 per month and as much more as he can make on commissions. He said that his wages run considerably more than the guarantee, and that he is willing to care for the child. At present Mr. and Mrs. Norris are residing in this city, but Mr. Norris admitted that he might change residences should the company send him elsewhere.

It was shown that for a time the child's mother resided with the Frantz family, but during that time the child slept in an alcove of a room occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Frantz and was looked after largely by Mrs. Frantz.

Once the child was taken to the home of Mrs. Day in Washington, Pa., where Mr. Craig went after her and brought her to the Frantz home. Mrs. Day testified that Craig had knocked her down in getting the child. This was denied by Mr. Craig and other witnesses who were with him at the time.

Miss Kiser, a nurse, who rooms at the Frantz home, testified that Mrs. Frantz did most of the waiting on the child.

Mr. Craig testified that he is now employed in Meadville as assistant manager of a shoe store. He said that he and his former wife had lived together after she had made an application for divorce. He claimed that when they had gone back together it was his understanding that the divorce proceedings had been dropped, but afterwards Mrs. Craig secured the divorce without notice having been served upon him. He said that Mr. and Mrs. Frantz had asked him for the child and he had given it to them, knowing that it would have a good home.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Franz testified that they had become very much attached to the child and were willing to give it a home. They also told what had been done in the way of taking care of the child.

The case was still on trial when court adjourned at noon.

Present Concert Programs Here

Welsh Folks Hear Artists On Saturday And Sunday Evenings

New Castle music lovers had an opportunity of hearing three noted artists of this country and Wales, on Saturday and Sunday evening at the First Congregational church.

The artists were Edgar Davis, baritone and Madam Gladys Cutter, soprano, of Chicago, leading singers of Wales, until they made this county their homeland a few years ago, and Miss Vera Gerin of Omaha, Neb., a pianist of rare ability.

The concert Saturday evening was for the benefit of the First Congregational church and given under the auspices of a committee of that church. The singers were received in a generous manner by an appreciative audience and found it necessary to respond with encores in each instance. Miss Gerin as an accompanist and also a soloist on the piano, showed rare form and ability and was also called on to respond to encores.

Sunday evening at the suggestion of the artists, a joint committee of the First Congregational and Emmanuel Baptist churches, put on a sacred concert in the Congregational church with the artists presenting the program. The program was well rendered and thoroughly enjoyed by all.

The proceeds Sunday in the form of a collection, forms a part of the funds sent today to Wales for the relief of thousands of children of the striking coal miners of that country.

Griff Thomas presented an eloquent appeal for the relief work at the concert last night and the response was most generous.

New Nerve Tonic Relieves Another Long Standing Case

Mrs. W. B. Hum Had Daily Attacks of Headaches; Could Not Sleep Soundly; Digestion Was Poor; Felt Nervous and Fretful—Ten Days Use of World's Tonic Releived.

Mrs. W. B. Hum, 634 East Washington street this city, says: "I was so nervous that the least little sudden noise would startle me and then I would tremble for hours. I couldn't sleep soundly. Things that would not have annoyed a person in good health irritated me.

"Exertion or sudden stopping brought on dizzy spells. My food soured on my stomach. I had almost daily attacks of headache. I took World's Tonic for about ten days and now I can eat whatever I want without having indigestion afterwards. My headaches are less often and less severe. I'm sleeping as soundly as a tired school child and I'm better in all ways since I've been taking World's Tonic."

Day after day people continue to tell how they have been aided by World's Tonic, stands out as one of the greatest medical discoveries in recent years. It supplies concentrated nourishment to the nerves and the nerves are the most important part of the body.

The action of World's Tonic is different from that of any other nerve medicine in the world. It rids the system of poisons that have often been accumulating for years.

World's Tonic is for sale at McKee's Cut Rate Store, Smith's, Paisley's and Economy of New Castle, Inc., and all other good Druggists —$1.00 for a large bottle.

EMPLOYE HURT AT NEW SCHOOL

Theodore Altman of Meyer avenue, a young man employed on the new Shenango township school building, narrowly escaped serious injury and possible death Saturday morning, when in looking out a window in the upper part of the building to determine the location of the lift, he was caught between the window ledge and the lift, which weighs several hundred pounds.

After considerable difficulty the lift was removed from his head and shoulder on which it was resting and removed to the New Castle hospital. At the hospital today, it was stated that his injuries were not of a serious nature though he was hurt to a considerable extent on the head. He will be able to leave the hospital in a few days.

Very few can stand prosperity if it's the other fellow's.

Children need the tender bran covering

—so these careful millers leave it on

Most little children, doctors say, should have a certain amount of tender roughage—and the bran covering of the oat is especially good for them because it is so tender.

That is why Mother's Oats has the approval of child health specialists who urge the importance of the natural whole grains. Vitamins and minerals known to be necessary for growth are liberally supplied by a bowl of Mother's Oats and milk—and an abundance of the tissue-forming protein of which children often fail to get enough.

Let your growing children have this healthful growth food often. See how they love its rich whole-grain flavor—see how they appreciate its extra smoothness that comes from the 50 years of experience of its careful millers.

Local Toy Merchant Says American Made Toys Predominate

Before the World war fathers and mothers, sisters and brothers, intent upon making some little boy or girl happy with a new toy, rarely picked one from a store counter which did not bear the label "Made in Germany".

However, this condition has changed during the last few years, and according to John Piper, wholesale toy merchant, the American-made toy predominates the market.

"Are the German-made toys better than the American-made toys?" the wholesaler was asked.

"No, they are not as good. The Germans cannot get the same workmanship into a toy for the same money as the American," he said.

Piper took time to show several new toys which have made their appearance for the present holiday season.

A mechanical toy can be purchased for a few nickles and according to Piper, "the American-made toy contains good mechanism."

Most of the stores in this section of the country have already received, or will within a few days, their "bags of toys, books and games."

There are different makes of the same games for boys and girls; new style swings for doll babies and in fact, every sort of a toy, book and game that can appease the desire of the small children.

Reclamation Work At Colliery To Be Long Hard Task

(International News Service)

HAZLETON, Pa., Nov. 29.—Reclamation work at the flooded Tomhicken workings, near here where six miners were entombed November 16, five being rescued alive November 24 will keep the Lehigh Valley Coal company busy for some time it was announced.

Company officials have found No. 8 slope caved in for 50 feet with ties, rails, roadbed and top-roof wash down the 657 foot slope so that there will be a mass of debris to clean out in the tube before it can be cleared and the intersecting gangways can be reached.

It is expected that these gangways will be found packed with sand and mud and that there will be considerable work ahead due to falls of roof where timbers were washed away.

Some predict that it will be well into spring before coal production at the Tomhicken colliery gets back to normal.

School Donations Largely Increased

Competition Between Boys And Girls Results In Larger Donations

Every year donations are taken at Thanksgiving time at the Senior High School under the supervision of the Girl Reserves.

This year, a contest was held between the boys and girls of the school.

Committees were appointed from Girl Reserves and the Hi-Y which were as follows: Girl Reserves, Harriet Beadel, Mary Elizabeth Gibson, and Arabella Aubel. Hi-Y, Harold Sankey, Sherwood Johns and Clay Aubel.

In all there were 476 food donations and $90.05 received. These figures show an increase of 326 packages and $64.05 over that of last year, this showing the value of competition between the boys and girls.

At the time of assembly, November 24, twelve rooms had reached the 100 per cent mark, everyone having given either food or money.

County Pays $46,573.34 Gas Tax In Quarter

During the quarter of July, August and September, Lawrence county paid gasoline tax amounting to $46,573.34, according to figures just released by the office of State Treasurer Samuel Lewis.

The county in the state paying the biggest gasoline tax was Philadelphia, it paying $504,560.19. Allegheny was second with $492,-284.76. The total for the state for the quarter amounted to $3,699,-123.77, and the total for the first three quarters for the year $8,-951,533.91.

The indications are that the gasoline tax for 1926 will exceed that of 1925 when $10,574,453.70 was paid in. Of this amount, the counties get 25 per cent back, which means that of the $46,573.34 paid in by this county, $11,643.34 will be paid back, or probably a total for the year of approximately $45,000, which will go into the funds of this county.

Murdoch, Former Pitt Grid Star, Shot And Killed

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 29.—Pittsburgh's first fatal hunting accident of the season took for its victim Thomas R. Murdoch, 25, former Pitt football star, who is dead at his home here today.

Murdoch was shot by William Lynn, of Wilkinsburg, a companion, when he walked directly into the line of Lynn's fire as the latter aimed at game. The former athlete was taken to the hospital by Lynn, where he died shortly after the shooting.

County detectives began an investigation of the shooting for the purpose of making a formal report, Lynn having been unofficially absolved of blame for Murdoch's death.

Grave Situation In China, General Strike Is Planned

Hankow Faces Critical Situation; Martial Law Is Declared

(International News Service)

TIENTSIN, China, Nov. 29. — With Hankow placed under martial law, reports from there indicate the Yangtse river city is faced with the gravest crisis that has occurred in China since the disturbances accompanying the Boxer Rebellion in 1900.

The situation there is reported as growing worse daily, with a general strike threatened for December 4 as a Chinese protest against the employment of foreigners in the government.

The foreign residents have made urgent appeals to their respective governments asking for increased protection. The British colony has requested that 500 British Marines be rushed there.

Two Small Children Turn In Fire Alarm

Firemen Called Sunday Afternoon To The Moravia Street District

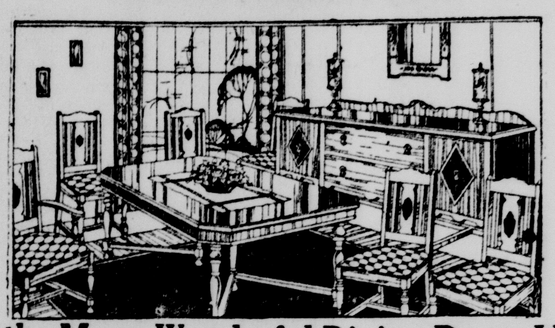

An alarm sounded Sunday afternoon from box 53, corner of Moravia and Reiber streets in the South Side district, about 2:35 o'clock. The firemen on arriving at the box, were unable to find any indication of a fire.

A little investigation by the fire authorities brought out the fact that the alarm had been turned in by two small children, who when as a result of their act, the alarm started to sound.

It was found that the two youngsters claimed that one had lifted up the other to shut the door of the fire alarm box and that the alarm started to sound. The indications are that the children opened the box and turned in the alarm, but owing to their extreme youth, no effort will be made to punish them.

are against young men who are living this month on next month's pay.
Some of these days you will run into a real opportunity which requires a little cash to handle, and, as the saying goes, you will be "out of luck."
If you go to the trouble of investigating the early careers of men who are in prosperous circumstances today, you will find nearly always that they had a Savings Account instantly ready to take advantage of opportunities when they came.
Don't think this is mere preaching. It is an absolute truth, and young men who fail to heed this advice will live to admit the error of their careless spending.

Your Home Should Come First

AMERICA is a nation of homes. It is reported that 55% of our population own their own homes! This alone should prove that in America the home comes first. Pride of ownership in a home of one's own is quickly followed by pride in its furnishings, and whether you own your home or are just renting a home, flat, or an apartment, your home should come first, especially with respect to its furnishings!

Commander Byrd Plans Antarctic Region Flight

(International News Service)

BUFFALO, N. Y., Nov. 29.—Two million square miles of unexplored land in the Antarctic is the next goal of Commander Richard E. Byrd, whose flight to the North Pole last May was one of the most important achievements yet made in far northern exploration.

In announcing his plans here Commander Byrd said that he planned to start his expedition in September, 1928. He will use the same type of plane as before, and if successful will later make another trip to the Arctic, where he believed there is undiscovered land.

Senate Members Breakfast With Coolidge Today

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29.—President Coolidge gave a "harmony breakfast" this morning at the White House, attended by a dozen members of the Senate.

Included among the guests was Senator Hendrik Shipstead, the sole Farmer-Labor member, of Minnesota, whose vote in the 70th Senate may conceivably decide whether the Republicans or Democrats will control the chamber.

PETERS ADVENTURES IN ANIMAL LAND

By Florence Smith Vincent

THEY CAME TO THE RIVER

"None of the three comrades could have told which one was the happiest—the man with his new favorite and his faithful hound; Wander, who was now quite sure he was indeed beloved of his master, or the Coal Black Beauty, who for the first time in all his life knew what it was to be a friend of man.

"Joyously the three comrades entered the secret pass, and although the trail upward was steep and the descent rocky, never, thought the horse, had the going been easier. 'Twas good company that made time fly and smoothed the road, and so full of loyalty to his conqueror was he, so busy thinking of the good fortune that had befallen him, that he scarce gave a thought to his brothers whom he had left behind him in the valley.

"By and by the three comrades crossed the wide plain, passed through the woods and came in sight of the huts by the side of the sky-blue water. And when they came to the river's edge the horse halted, and despite his master's gentle proddings would not enter the water.

"'How now, my beauty—what troubles you?' cried the master in surprise. 'Surely 'tis not the water itself you dread, for never so far afforest roamed a horse that dared not a plunge in the cooling stream. The current is strong, my beauty, but you are stronger. Easily will you breast it. In with you, my fiery one. No? And you tremble. What is the matter, Pride of My Heart? Faith, and I am puzzled.'

"But Wander, being a four-foot himself, understood the ways of a four-foot.

"'Tis not the chill the wild horse feels, master' barked he. 'Nor the water itself, nor yet the two-legs gathered 'round the camp fire, but, master, the sun is setting and it throws its beams across the water. Never a horse that will swim into the golden glory—it blinds him, master, and no horse will venture where he cannot see the way before him.'"

Next: "Home."

DINNER STORIES

Sister Brown had been testifying at the weekly prayer meetings, of the waywardness of her daughter who would rather go to dances than to church. This had been going on for weeks in spite of the feeble protests of her husband. Finally at one of these prayer meetings she arose with new testimony. She concluded thus:

"And now that my daughter is going to be married this burden has been lifted from my shoulders and placed on that of a man. I am so happy that if I had one more feather in my wings I would fly to heaven."

But in the general chorus of "Amens," no one heard the mutterings of her husband, who grunted: "O Lord, stick it in and let her fly."

Little Sally Myers was told that polite people did not talk about their ailments in company, or outside of the family. So when a visitor asked her if she was well, she said, "Well, in the family, I have the stomach ache, but in company I am quite well, thank you."

It was a very small crib pillow, but it reposed in the place of honor in a case in one of the great historical museums.

"I can't see anything remarkable about that pillow," remarked one of a group of visitors.

"My dear madam," explained the guide, "it is very valuable. It is Washington's original headquarters."

UNION HIGH GRIDDERS END SUCCESSFUL SEASON

Thirteen To Get Letters

Coach Burnham Drives Team Hard; Win Four, Lose One, Tie Two

BESSEMER GAME ENDS IN PROTEST

The Union High football team has just ended one of the most successful grid seasons in the history of the school. The team won four games, tied two and lost one.

The Union team, under the coaching of Burnham, was one of the best Junior High outfits in the county. The Ben Franklin team was the only combination credited with a victory over the Unions, the score being 7 to 0.

Coach Burnham was forced to enter the Ben Franklin game with four of his regulars on the crippled list. In a previous game Ben Franklin and Union deadlocked at 0-0.

The Union Alumni was the first team to feel the wrath of the Junior High boys, the score being 18 to 0. Slippery Rock was defeated, 7 to 6, in a mud battle at the normal school town. New Wilmington and Union staged a "life and death" struggle at Scotland Lane that ended a tie at 0-0.

Harrisville High proved easy for the Unions with the locals winning, 13 to 6. The Bessemer game was protested, ending in the third quarter, due to a dispute.

Union High defeated Salem, O., High Reserves, 14 to 0, in a well played contest in the Ohio city. This was one of the most brilliant victories of the year for the Burnham coached aggregation.

The following players will receive letters this year as a reward for their grid activities: Shiek, Thompson, Kellar, Chill, Carr, Rech, Annarella, Bender, Weich, Wochner, Hoffmeister, Hughes and Funkhouser.

Union High scored 52 points this year against 19 for their opponents.

MIKE WILSON CREATES RECORD

Betters Harry Wilson's Record With 120 Points

NEW YORK, Nov. 29.—Mike Wilson, Lafayette's sensatio n a l sophomore halfback, today sports the high point scoring crown of the East for the season of 1926.

His total of 120 points, gained by 20 touchdowns, was 25 better than (Light Horse) Harry Wilson of Army could muster and broke the record for regional scorers set at 103 in 1925 by Eddie Tryon, Colgate flash. Mike's total represented more than a third of that gathered by Lafayette in marching through nine opponents to an undefeated season.

Harry Wilson's spurt of nine points against Navy Saturday after Mike's season had closed, carried the cadet ace to 95 and gave him a leeway of five points over Williams of Connecticut Aggies. Lane, Dartmouth star, gathered 81. Wilson of Army made only 12 touchdowns, but added 23 goals for extra points to boost his tally.

Penn Grid Star Turns Professional

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 29.—Charley Rogers, Pennsylvania halfback, has turned professional. He will lead a team of his own on a barnstorming trip from coast to coast.

"I love football, that's why I have joined the professionals", Rogers said. "I am through at the University of Pennsylvania both in football and track, and I see no harm in playing professional football", said Rogers.

LAFAYETTE HAS CLEAN GRID SLATE

Scores 330 Points And Goes Through Season Without Defeat

NEW YORK, Nov. 29.—Lafayette alone of all the eastern colleges came through the 1926 football season undefeated and united Thursday saw Brown ousted from the head of the parade by a tie with Colgate after sweeping to nine straight victories.

The breath-taking deadlock of Army and Navy Saturday in the final play of the year at Chicago smudged the middie record after a string of eight wins. Army had been defeated earlier in the season by Notre Dame.

Lafayette High Pointer

In achieving an unblemished record, Lafayette smashed through nine opponents for the greatest point total in the East, 330, a figure to challenge that of any major eleven in the country. Georgetown, with 308, had the only other offensive to exceed the three-century mark.

The pendulum of intersectional gridiron supremacy, which has swung sharply toward the East since 1924, shows the colleges of the Atlantic seaboard enjoying a decisive margin over all other sectors in this feature of competition.

Notre Dame Final Blow

With Carnegie's defeat of Notre Dame supplying an unexpected climax, the East's record for the regular playing season shows twenty-nine victories, fourteen defeats and two ties.

Grid Season At Grove City Is Termed Success

Grove City Under Charley Bowser Wins Smaller College Championship

GROVE CITY, Pa., Nov. 28. — The undefeated Grove City College team, football champions of the smaller colleges of the tri-state district for the past two seasons, attracted the attention of the football world when it defeated the Geneva college team, conquerors of Harvard for the championship on Saturday, November thirteenth. The victory over Geneva eclipsed the great 28-0 victory over the strong Allegheny college team last fall. The succession of victories gained by the crimson eleven this fall have proven Coach Charles Bowser to be one of the very best coaches of the younger generation in the entire country.

Coach Bowser is loud in his praise of the players, however. The fine leadership of Cap't "Bill" Cribbs was responsible in no small way for the undefeated season. Every spectator who saw the unity of play of the crimson machine in the Allegheny and Geneva games particularly, realized that they saw in action a team with a soul. Grove City is proud of her undefeated champions, not so much because of the victories won, but because of the spirit shown by the players and their supporters. With the loss of Coach Bowser and nine members of the varsity squad at the close of this season, things do not look so good for next fall. Grove City is banking on the "crimson spirit," however, to give her another good team.

Lincoln Five To Play Butler Team

Having dropped the opening game of the year to the Butler Bel-Ve-Deres by a score of 28 to 26 the Lincoln Five will essay a comeback attempt on Wednesday night at the Y. M. C. A. by meeting the Butler Spaide Shirt company team.

The Spaide Shirt team won the Industrial basketball title in Butler last year and they are rated as one of the strongest teams in Butler county today.

The Lincolns will stage a practice session tonight at the Y. M. C. A. with Coach Frazier directing the team The practice is scheduled for 8 o'clock.

SPORTS DONE BROWN

We're going to weaken just once this season to delve into comparative scores to prove something that doesn't mean a thing.

We're doing it just because—well for the same reason that you eat peanuts at a ball game and suffer afterwards.

Lafayette defeated Muhlenberg 35 to 0, Muhlenberg defeated Lehigh 30 to 0, Lehigh defeated Princeton 7 to 6, Princeton defeated Harvard 12 to 0. Harvard shaded Dartmouth 16 to 12 while Dartmouth held Brown to a 10 to 0 sore.

Which should give Lafayette something or other in the line of a title. But we can't figure any one out.

• • •

Speaking of freak fotball topics Will Wedge in the New York Sun, steps up with his "All" team but he doesn't confine his selection to an "All-American" afafir. He makes it an international one.

After selecting the following team because of the nationalities of the players he coyly suggests Knute Rockne, Notre Dame coach, be named mentor of the team so that "the trick plays of this mythical bunch can be copyrighted in all countries including the Scandinavian.

Here's his team:

Lindenmeyer, German, University of Missouri.

Kevorkian, Armenian, Brown.

Alohahoi, Hawaiian, University of Dayton.

Hageage, Syrian, Georgetown.

Lorio, French, Tulane.

Chief Field, Pawnee Indian, Denison University.

Matsu, Japanese, William and Mary.

ALL-AMERICAN GRID CANDIDATES

By NORMAN E. BROWN.

It has been urged by many sport writers including yours truly that a "Big Ten" be built in the east to supplant the rather hit and miss schedules of colleges in that section. If such a conference is formed Fordham will demand a place in the sun. This despite the fact that outside of football the institution is not ranked among the bigger colleges.

Men like "Zev" Graham, quarterback of this year's eleven, have helped give that school some great football teams. The annual battles between Fordham and Holy Cross, for instance, have always been thrilling affairs. Holy Cross also demanding attention each fall.

Graham is a triple threat man and probably one of the best field generals in the east. He must be considered.

Accounts of the Army-Notre Dame game in which Rockne's men beat the service team by one touchdown, made Flannagan the outstanding hero of the contest because of his 63 yard run for the only score of the game.

But the man who really made that touchdown possible was Voedisch, Notre Dame end and one of the interference for Flannagan on the run. Voedisch it was who "spilled" Wilson, Army backfield star and deadly tackler when Wilson was gaining on Flannagan and about to cut him down.

Voedisch's defensive play this season is alone sufficient to draw him consideration.

Carnegie Tech Team Praised By Fans For Defeat Of Notre Dame

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 29.—Carnegie Tech, always the "ugly duckling" of the Pittsburgh football family, had undergone a transformation today. Football fandom belittled the prowess of the Scotch gridiron gladiators to give their patronage to a bigger school, those same fans fell at the feet of the conquering Tech aggregation today, gradually realizing that Tech's overwhelming defeat of Notre Dame was not a dream.

Congratulations were heaped upon the Carnegie gridders from all sides, and perhaps the sincerest of all came from the Pitt eleven which Tech downed recently for the city championship.

The wearers of the plaid eliminated Notre Dame from consideration for the national championship, outplaying the "fighting Irish" in every department of the game to win by a score of 19 to 0, but they did more—they endeared themselves in the hearts of the fans for many years to come.

Perhaps the absence of Knute Rockne, Notre Dame coach, who was attending the Army-Navy game in Chicago, had something to do with the Irish's poor showing, but you couldn't convince a Pittsburgh fan that such was true. Moreover, those who saw the memorable clash were disinclined to berate Notre Dame. The visitors fought valiantly and played well, only to be outplayed by an inspired Tech eleven.

There is a football saying that often a team can be inspired to reach almost unbelievable heights. The person who did the inspiring in this case was Coach "Wally" Steffen and the team gave him full credit for the victory.

First Move To Pick Tunney Foe Seen In Berlenbach-Sharkey Go

JACK SHARKEY
PAUL BERLENBACH

BY NORMAN E. BROWN.

The first heavyweight battle of importance since the championship bout between Jack Dempsey and Gene Tunney probably will be one between Paul Berlenbach, recent graduate into the "legitimate" heavyweight class and Jack Sharkey, the man who burst the myth surrounding Harry Wills.

I understand that the men are as good as matched to meet in New York early in January as the first of a series of indoor shows to be run with a view toward choosing a late summer foe for Tunney.

Berlenbach has spent the last few months building up his weight to that of the average heavy. This after proving conclusively in the light heavy ranks that he is a terrific puncher a fair boxer and the "go-getter' type the fans like.

Eastern critics dubbed Paul the "Astoria Assassin" when the lad from Astoria began knocking hopefuls loose from their hopes. In 1925 after knocking out Mike McTigue to win the light heavyweight crown, Paul flattened Jimmy Slattery pride of Buffalo and called a "second Corbett" and then proceeded to win over Jack Delaney. He later however lost his crown to Jack.

Sharkey had drawn some attention before the Wills bout. Regardless of the class he showed in that bout the victory over the talkative negro gave Jack enough prominence to make him a big drawing card, until he gets socked.

If the battle comes off it will be a slugging match and ought to be a beautiful one. Those in the front rows may spend much of their time pushing one or the other back into the ring.

Stanford-Alabama Game Should Decide National Football Championship

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

By ED. FRITZ

CARNEGIE Tech furnished the biggest surprise of the 1926 football season by humbling Notre Dame, 19 to 0, Saturday, and incidentally knocked the "propers" from beneath the hopes of Notre Dame for the national championship. Donohue and Harpster were the point gainers for Carnegie Tech, and according to football critics Tech played the greatest game any Plaid eleven has ever staged. Notre Dame sent its second string onto the field in the first quarter and played a spectacular game against the Skibos, but in the second period, true to Rockne strategy, the first team was rushed upon the field. This was the beginning of the end, and although Notre Dame had the ball on Tech's six-inch line at one stage of the contest, the stone wall defense of Tech withstood the test and Notre Dame was unable to score. Knute Rockne did not attend the game in his capacity as coach, but participated in a Western Conference meeting at Chicago. He paid full credit to the Plaid by declaring Notre Dame was in charge of capable officials and the only regret he had to offer was that he was not present to congratulate the winning team.

WHILE Carnegie Tech was making new football history, Army and Navy staged their annual tilt at Chicago before 110,000 persons, each team, incidentally, netting $100,000 for their athletic fund. The teams played to a 21-21 tie. Johnny Hamilton, Navy left half, bombed the Cadet back sector with uncanny passes and the Middies threw the West Pointers into consternation by rushing two touchdowns before the Army was able to pull itself together. The Army rallied, tossed their storm troops into action and staged a gruelling drive with Light Horse Harry Wilson tearing through the Sailors' defense for the first Cadet touchdown. Before the first half ended a long pass, fumbled by the Navy, was grabbed by Harbold, who carried it over the line. In the third period the Army advanced seven points when Cagie shook himself free from Navy tacklers and went 44 yards for the touchdown. Wilson added his third point from touchdown and the Navy, fighting desperately, found Shapley scoring a touchdown on a reverse play, and Hamilton, like Wilson, kicked the third extra point successfully.

BO McMILLAN'S squad from Geneva captured the Tri-State Conference championship by defeating Bethany, 20 to 0, at Beaver Falls. Weather conditions played havoc with the work of both teams, but Geneva took advantage of the breaks and scored three touchdowns in the first quarter for a 20 to 0 victory. Two fumbles and a blocked kick figured in the Geneva team's scoring, while belated attempts to pierce the strong Bison line proved futile. To show how fast Geneva worked in the first period, it is reported that only eight plays were used to push over the first touchdown. Of the three touchdowns Whitemore scored two and Booth one, while Flenniken added two extra points, one of his attempts to kick going astray. The victory closed Geneva's season. Five men will be lost this year by Geneva: Hubbard, Anderson, Davis, Wilson and Heinzer having played their last game.

HAPPINESS prevails in the ranks of Washington, Pa., high school ranks today as Washington High came through over Wilkinsburg Saturday afternoon and captured the Syracuse cup, which is emblematic of the championship of the W. P. I. A. League. Washington had previously won from Allegheny and Wilkinsburg had soared to the heights of a contender by facing Union of Turtle Creek. The two winners met Saturday and Washington High won with several touchdowns to spare.

GENEVA heads the Class B division this season with four victories and no defeats. Waynesburg occupies second, with three victories and one defeat, and Bethany captured third place. The other teams finished as follows: fourth, Thiel; fifth, Duquesne, and sixth, Westminster. Geneva scored 115 points to opponents' six during the Class B Conference play. Bethany's defeat Saturday cost them second place, as the defeat gave Waynesburg a boost into second place and the Buffaloes dropped to third.

LAFAYETTE is the only eastern eleven to end the season undefeated and without a deadlock charged to them. The Maroons scored 330 points, against 37 for their foes.

HARRY Wilson of Sharpsville has been elected captain of the Army eleven. E. J. Delaney of Reading was named manager for 1927. Wilson has three letters for basketball, baselall and lacrosse. He is 23 and formerly attended Sharon High and Penn State.

Three Unbeaten College Teams Fall In Past Week; Navy, Brown, Notre Dame

Lafayette Is Only Unbeaten Team In Eastern Grid Circles

BY DAVIS J. WALSH
Sports Editor International News Service

NEW YORK, Nov. 29.—Destiny pulled its invisible strings between the rise of one sun on Thursday and the setting of another on Saturday and the football teams of Notre Dame, Brown and the Navy, puppets all, danced obediently into the wings and the shadows beyond where fame is not. Headliners almost to the last, their act proved something of a "flop" at the grand finale.

In consequence, a saddened and distrait tournament of roses committee at Pasadena, Cal., probably will break right down and laugh.

There were three unbeaten college football teams of the first rank surviving the regular season's end today and through some regrettable oversight the committee has lined up only two of them, Stanford and Alabama, for the New Year's Day game on the coast. That game, therefore, will have a far greater bearing on the national situation in football than ever before; in fact, will establish the winner as more deserving of national recognition than any other contender.

Lafayette Unbeaten.

It so happens that there is only one, Lafayette, which finished its season undefeated more than a week ago and, at least, has a shouting concession in all arguments.

However, the team that wins at Pasadena can whisper its rebuttal and all will hear with great ease and facility, for it will be the undispute champion of two great sections, the south and far west, while Lafayette, at best, can claim nothing beyond the purpling shadows of the Alleghenies.

As for the middle west, Notre Dame's disturbing defeat by Carnegie Tech on Saturday left that section without an accredited national contender for the first time in some years. Michigan probably is as good as the next and better than most but the Wolverine merely is co-champion of the Big Ten and, besides, it lost to the Navy.

The latter's 21 to 21 tie with the Army on Saturday must be regarded as an act of self-elimination and the same thing applies to Brown's 10 to 10 tie with Colgate.

The fallacy of comparative scores and records of teams that meet no common opponent is well and favorably known among our most intelligent foul balls. Yet how may one rate football teams, except by victories, defeats and ties? The writer cannot rouse himself to three ringing cheers for the Navy's claims when that team plays a tie with the Army, which lost to Notre which lost to Carnegie Tech, which lost to New York university, which was beaten by Nebraska, which, in turn, lost to Missouri, which lost to Oklahoma, which lost to Kansas, which lost to nearly everybody and so on, ad infinitum.

In the same way, Brown's tie with Colgate on Thanksgiving day clearly leaves New England without a contender, Colgate having lost to the Navy. At this point, you repeat the foregoing paragraph until exhausted.

As for Boston college, if its tie with Haskell Indians didn't weaken its claims, the scoreless affair with Holy Cross most certainly did, for Holy Cross was beaten by Boston university, which previously had lost to all manner of sap teams.

Great Britain has 990 hockey clubs affiliated in one national organization.

A Great Little Man — By Feg Murray

Copyright, 1926, by Metropolitan Newspaper Service

Walter Eckersell went to the University of Chicago with a fine reputation as a high school football player. He more than made good in his four years in college; in fact, his fame is so great, that to this day, he is known as "The Greatest of Quarter-backs." And since his graduation in the spring of 1907, Eckersall has continued to add to his reputation by becoming a capable football official and a brillant sports writer.

Walter's first appearance in connection with the game of football was as a water-boy at the Carlisle-Illinois game in 1897. Later, as a student at Hyde Park High School in Chicago, he was twice captain of the team and had the thrill of helping to defeat the University of Chicago in 1901 and of swamping Brooklyn Poly 105 to 0 in an East-West interscholastic game in 1902.

In his college career he became, with Willie Heston, of Michigan, the greatest football-player of the West, and his all-around work so attracted the attention of the late Walter Camp that he was chosen for that famous expert's All-American team three times. Besides being a star broken-field runner, a and a fine defensive player, he was a great field general, and it is too bad that he didn't have a chance to play in the modern open game. The wonder of it is that he did so well, for he weighed less than 150 pounds, and starred in the days of mass plays and bone-crushing giants.

Among "Eckie's" gridiron accomplishments while at Chicago were the following: A 45-yard field goal and two 75- yard runs for touch-downs in his first conference game with Indiana. Five field goals and one touch-down against Illinois in 1905, and five goals and many successful passes to Steffen against Nebraska in 1906. A 95-yard run to a touch-down from the kick-off against Iowa, and a 107-yard run to a touch-down from a fumble against Texas, in 1904. Against Wisconsin he kicked three field goals in 1903, made a 110-yard run for a touch-down from the kick-off in 1904, and beat them with a field goal on a muddy field in 1905. He stopped the great Heston many times and once scored a touch-down against Michigan after a fumble by Heston.

Feg Murray Says—

Too bad that Luther Burbank died before he had perfected a goalpost tree for the Harvard Stadium that could not be uprooted by Princeton snake-dancers

THE CONFEDERACY TOOK STRONG MEASURES TO OPPOSE THE UNION BLOCKADE OF SOUTHERN PORTS. THE EXISTING COAST DEFENSES, SEIZED BY THE SECEDING STATES, WERE STRENGTHENED AND NEW FORTS HEAVILY ARMED AND GARRISONED WERE BUILT.

TO MAKE NAVIGATION DIFFICULT AND DANGEROUS FOR THE FEDERAL PATROL BOATS, THE CONFEDERATES KEPT ALL THE LIGHTHOUSES DARK AND REMOVED ALL LIGHTSHIPS AND BUOYS THAT MARKED THE CHANNELS.

HULKS WERE SUNK ACROSS THE MOST FAMILIAR CHANNELS LEADING TO SOUTHERN HARBORS TO BLOCK ANY ATTEMPT OF UNION WARSHIPS TO FORCE AN ENTRANCE.

PATRIOTIC WOMEN OF THE CONFEDERACY RAISED FUNDS BY SUBSCRIPTION TO BUILD FLOATING BATTERIES AND ARM VESSELS FOR COAST DEFENSE AND, LATER, TO CONSTRUCT IRON-CLAD RAMS TO ATTACK THE FEDERAL BLOCKADING SHIPS.

N. Y. STOCKS

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Nov. 29. — Industrial stocks displayed an irregular tone at the beginning of trading today. Continuance of the 5 per cent call loan rate was a handicap to the rally in the speculative leaders, as also were the reports of curtailment in steel mills operations in the Mahoning Valley. The steel stocks were freely offered in this period, and United States Steel lost more than a point at 149.

Firmness characterized the motor stocks. General motors, Chrysler, Studebaker, Hudson and White Motor attracted considerable buying at a higher range of values. Phillips Petroleum sold more than a point to a new high at 54¾, while Skelly and Marland Oil made fractional gains in a fairly active market.

After an early decline to 157, Baldwin Locomotive ran up briskly to above 160. Mack Trucks and other speculative leaders which had felt the weight of profit taking and shortly selling in the first period also recovered the bulk of their early losses.

MAKES DENIAL OF ANY PART IN DOUBLE MURDER

and three bullets put into Mrs. Mills' head and her throat cut?

A. I was not.

Q. Were you in De Russey's lane that night?

A. No (firmly).

Q. You never saw these letters?

A. No.

Q. You didn't start out to De Dussey's lane Thursday night with these letters.

A. No.

A cool, indifferent expression on her pallid face, the black garbed defendant calmly surveyed Prosecutor Alexander Simpson as he launched his verbal barrage.

"Did you spend part of 1922 at Mannesquan (a small town near Asbury Park)?" was Simpson's opening question.

"No," she replied in a very low voice.

"Did you spend any time at any shore resort with Rev. Hall that year?"

"No."

Nothing Suspicious.

"You say you never saw anything suspicious between Mr. Hall and Mrs. Mills in the church and you attended the church every Sunday?"

"No, I did not," she said firmly.

"Did you say during the investigation in 1922 at New Brunswick in describing your movemnts that you 'had not slept on the night of the crime'?"

"Yes."

"Didn't you use the word 'casualty' when you called up the police inquiring about your husband the morning after the murder—didn't you say 'were there any casualties'?"

"Yes."

"Didn't you say on Saturday that the word "casualty" meant a violent death?"

"No."

"What time did you get up on Friday morning, the day after the crime?"

"Between 6 and 7."

"What was the first time you saw Mr. Mills after that?"

"Between 7 and 9 a. m."

"How did you meet him (Mills)?"

"In front of the church."

"What did you say to him?"

"I just talked things over with him."

Had Been Murdered.

"Don't you remember saying to Mr. Mills that 'they had been together and had been murdered'?"

"I did not say that."

"What did you say then to Mr. Mills?"

"I made no such statement," she retorted.

The spectators, occupying every seat in the little, chapel-like courtroom and choking the aisles, listened intently to every word.

"You say you never saw anything suspicious between Dr. Hall and Mrs. Mills?"

"Never."

"You saw a concealed camera in court here Saturday and asked the court to remove it!"

"It wasn't concealed."

"Yet you were living with your husband every day and never saw anything to arouse your suspicions".

"No, never."

Her replies were very low. At times she was barely audibje.

"Do you now say", continued Simpson relentlessly, "that you told no one in the prosecutor's office that you told Mr. Mills 'they've been together and they've been murdered?'"

"I didn't say that."

Telephone Message Figures.

"Now you say you telephoned Mr. Hall's sister the day after your husband failed to come home—now where did you telephone from?"

"From the drug store half a mile from my house."

"What time?"

"About 10 a. m."

"Who did you telephone to?"

"Mrs. Voorhees."

"What did you say to her?"

"That Mr. Hall had gone out and had not returned."

"Why didn't you tell the police on Friday?"

"I told Mr. Florence to notify them for me."

Mrs. Hall then testified that shortly afterward both of Dr. Hall's sisters, Mrs. Paul Bonner and Mrs. Francis Voorhees, arrived at the station at New Brunswick about noon—and went to her house.

She said she went down to the station and on her way back saw James Mills and learned that his wife was missing.

"When you learned that both Mr. Hall and Mrs. Mills were missing, why did you 'put them together' when you talked with James Mills?"

"I did not."

"If your husband was out all night, why did you think he was out with Mrs. Mills?"

"Mrs. Mills was the last person whom he said he was going to see."

Just Waited.

"All day Friday you were waiting for news?"

"Yes."

Mrs. Hall's eyes narrowed as she regarded Simpson. Her voice was low, but firm. Her glance seemed deadly as she regarded the little prosecutor.

"Why did you sit at home all day the next day waiting for news?" demanded Simpson.

Robert H. McCarter, senior counsel for the defense, objected and a hot legal tilt followed. The objection was sustained.

By now Mrs. Hall seemed somewhat lagged and tired. Simpson's questions came with the rapidity of a machine gun.

"You knew where the hospitals were in New Brunswick?"

"Yes."

"And you had an automobile?"

"Yes."

"And you let the day drag by, you fearing your husband had been hurt and never went near the hospitals?"

"No, I had telephoned the police."

"Why did you say on September 26, 1922, that 'they were both out together and met the same fate?'" Simpson reiterated.

"I don't recall saying that," she said quietly.

She ignored Simpson when he said "Now come on Mrs. Hall; give me an answer one way or the other. We haven't got all day. Let's get out of here."

'Did you testify under oath that the thought occurred to you that they might have been together and that they might have met the same

"I told you", said Mrs. Hall wearily, "I knew Mr. Hall was going to see Mrs. Mills about the hospital bills and I knew that they were together that evening."

"You knew where your husband's body was after it was found Saturday?"

"Yes."

Did Not Visit Undertaker's

"Yet you never visited the undertaker's parlors or made any effort to have the body brought to your home?"

"I was told it was wiser that the body remain at the undertaker's."

"Yet this husband, to whom you were devoted, whom you never suspected of a disloyal act, who had met a violent death, at whose hands you did not know, you let his body lie at the undertaker's from Saturday to Monday, and be buried without regular pallbearers?"

(A previous witness testified the carriage drivers acted as pallbearers).

"I don't remember whether there were pallbearers."

"Why did you want advice from a lawyer ten days after the crime, if you weren't involved?" suddenly shouted Simpson.

"I thought it was necessary to have such advice", she replied evenly.

Mrs. Hall glanced at the clock. She seemed to be impatient with the long-drawn ordeal. She was not weakening, however. Simpson's repetition of questions and his insistence upon answers the way he wanted them angered her. Her manner became increasingly disdainful.

What Advice?

"Now Mrs. Hall, ten days after the murder you engaged Mr. Pfeiffer. What advice did you want, advice could not restore the husband who you say was everything in the world to you?"

"What should be done about it? A murder had been done. I wanted advice about what should be done.

"By the authorities?"

"Yes."

"Did you omit to state in your first statement to Totten that you came in early Friday morning? At what part of your recital did you put that in?"

"I was in a very agitated state of mind. He told me a woman had been seen coming into my home Friday morning, and I said 'Yes, I was that woman'."

"You knew nothing of a love affair between your husband and Mrs. Mills?"

"No."

"Did you ever look over his shoulder while he was writing to Mrs. Mills and see what he was writing?"

"I never did."

Mother Is Too Busy.

Won't Pay Wife's Bills; She Says He Never Did

NEW KENSINGTON, Pa., Nov. 29.—F. J. Scholze can't tell the world of his refusal to pay his wife's bills and get away with it, not while his wife is where she can listen in. Scholze and his wife had some trouble—in fact, it seems that's about all they ever did have—with the result that three months ago they parted and Mrs. Scholze ceased trying to reign, even theoretically, over F. J.'s heart and home.

After they had gone their separate ways, F. J. seems to have become gripped by a fear that Mrs. might run up bills on him, so he went to a local newspaper office and inserted the following legal notice:

"Notice to whom it may concern—That I will not be responsible for any debts contracted by my wife, Mrs. Marie Scholze, on and after this date.

"Debts!" sneered Mrs. Scholze. "The idea!" And she forthwith went right over to the same newspaper office and inserted this snappy one in the "Legal Notices' column:

"To whom it may concern—This is to certify that F. J. Scholze at no time ever did pay any bills which I ever have contracted, as I had to work to pay my own bills. So I don't expect him to pay any bills which I have contracted since we separated August 18, 1926."

Sergeant Jones Has Collection Of Keys

Many Of Them Have Been Awaiting The Owner For Many Months

Day Sergeant of Police Frank M. Jones is the possessor of a very choice collection of keys, for opening front doors, back doors, and locks of all kinds and sizes.

The collection is the result of people and officers finding keys lost by various unknown individuals and being turned over to him for safe keeping. It is seldom that the owner has ever called for or or claimed any of the keys turned over to him.

His collection was still further increased Saturday by a bunch turned over to him by one of the members of the police force. The key ring has on it several keys that have the appearance of being more or less valuable to the owner. They will be placed in his collection, if no person calls and proves them to be there property.

A THREE DAYS COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all know drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory disease, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

Seek To Eliminate Service Duplication

Telephone Companies In Warren, McKean And Elk Counties Submit Plan

By GEORGE H. MANNING.
(Washington Bureau of The News.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 29.—A plan to eliminate duplication of telephone service in Warren, McKean and Elk counties, Pa., was submitted for the approval of the Interstate Commerce commission today.

Authority is asked to carry out an agreement between the Bell Telephone Company of Pennsylvania and the Home Telephone Company of Ridgeway to sell each other telephone lines which are now competing in the three counties. The Bell company would sell property valued at $175,238.50 and the Home company would sell property valued at $70,000.

It is claimed that this deal would be in the public interest as subscribers would get better local and long distance service and duplication of telephone lines and stations would be eliminated.

The agreement is contingent upon completion of the incorporation of the Home Telephone company. The agreement was made May 5, 1926, between the Bell company and John H. Wright of Jamestown, N. Y., president of the Home company. The Home company is to take over the properties owned by the bankrupt company Commercial Union Telephone company and will purchase the properties of the Warren-McKean Telephone company and the toll line from Warren to Corry, Pa., now owned by Wright.

The difference in price of the properties exchanged leaves a balance of $106,238.50 due the Bell company and the Home company will pay this with $238.50 in cash, $60,000 in 600 shares of its preferred stock and $46,000 in 460 shares of its common stock.

Approval of the Interstate Commerce commission is required by law before such telephone properties may be sold or exchanged.

LOSES BY A TAIL

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Nov. 29.—"Scottish Prince Red Laddie," a red tabby owned by Mrs. George C. Lewis, this city, might have won the championship at the Quaker City cat show had it not been for the fact that one of the judges discovered that "Red's" beautiful tail had been shorn. As it was an outsider came in and won the award. Now "Red" is angrily licking his fur and lashing his mutilated appendage. A woman, employed to care for him, ignorantly clipped his tail.

They're using airplanes in the war at Herrin, Ill., now. Wouldn't that be a good place to establish a school of military tactics?
